

Lawyer for Seale: A 'Savage' Term

CHICAGO (UPI)—Black Panther Bobby Seale was sentenced Wednesday to four years in prison for repeatedly disrupting the "Chicago Eight" conspiracy trial. Seale's lawyer immediately said he would appeal the "savage" contempt sentence to the U.S. Supreme Court.

U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman declared a mistrial in Seale's conspiracy case and pronounced three-month consecutive sentences for each of 16 separate acts of contempt, ranging from Seale shouting obscenities in the courtroom to calling the judge a Fascist, racist pig.

Seale was bound, gagged and handcuffed to a chair last week for repeated outbursts in the courtroom.

Seale's attorney, Charles R. Garry, said in San Francisco he would appeal the sentence.

"I think the sentence is a savage one," Garry said. "I never heard of a judge running wild like this in my life." Garry could not attend the trial because of a recent operation.

The cases against seven other men charged with conspiring to incite riots during the August 1968, Democratic National Convention were not affected by the judge's ruling against Seale.

Hoffman, after a 90-minute reading, told Seale he was guilty of 16 separate acts of contempt, and sentenced him.

Seale's vehement contention that he should act as his own attorney since Garry could not attend brought the trial to a standstill at several points. Hoffman had him bound and gagged three days last week.

A prosecution witness, Bill H. Ray of San Mateo, Calif., had testified he saw Seale board a plane in San Francisco for Chicago Aug. 27, 1968. The administration of justice government contended Seale came to Chicago as part of the federal judicial system.

"The intensity and extent of the disruptions has been so great that the record cannot reflect them in words. At times on a raid of the Black Panther these disruptions were accompanied by physical attacks," Seale asked Ray, "panicked by the judge said. He then gave orders to sit down."

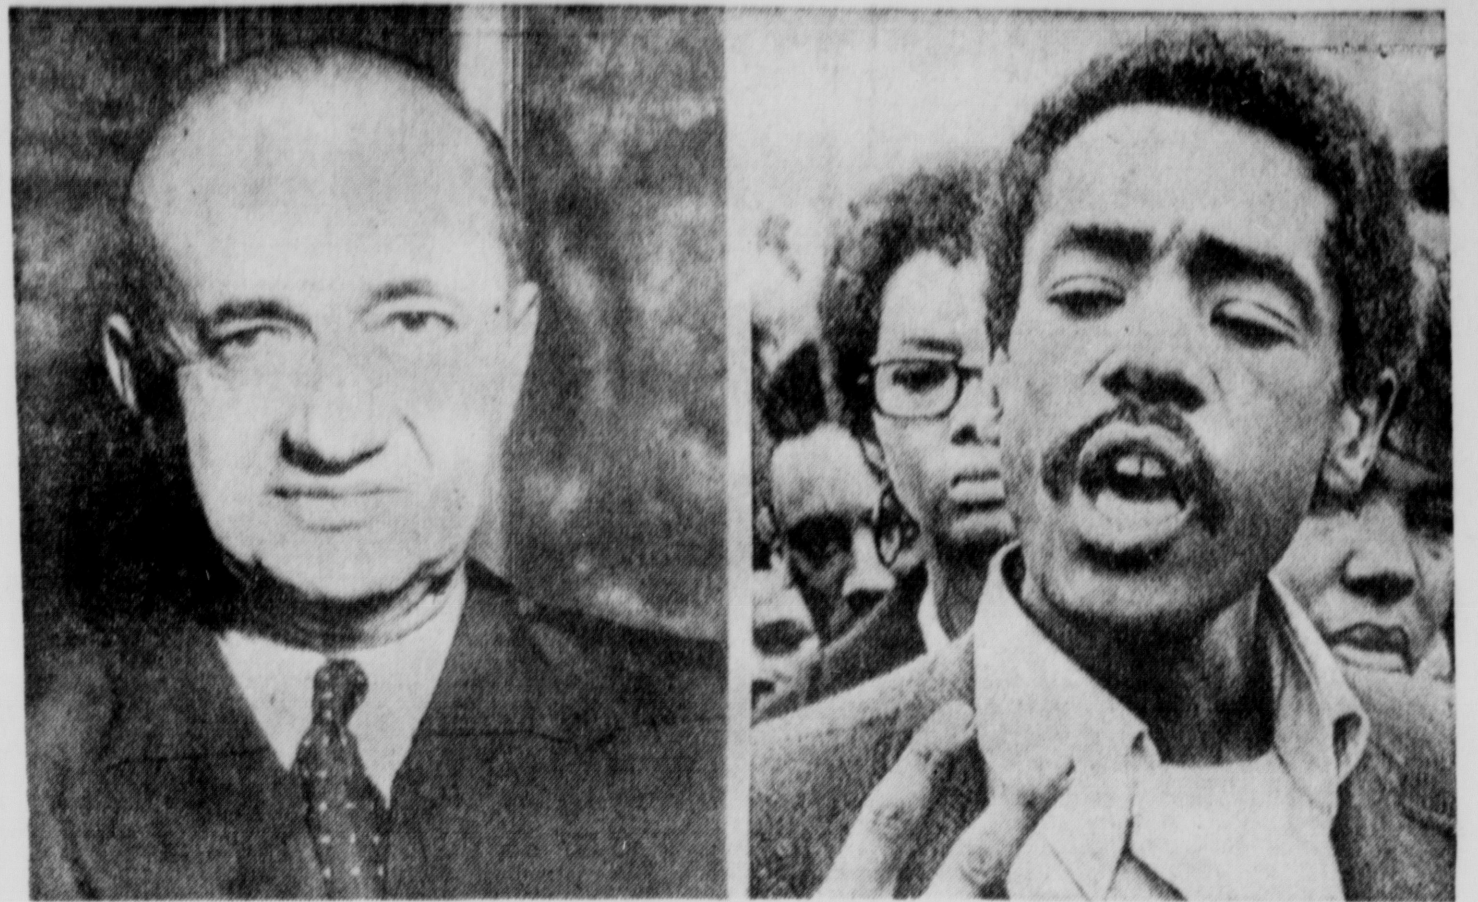

Seale the opportunity to speak on his own behalf.

Seale said, "I am not being railroaded. Why don't you let me cross-examine the witness? This is a complete, Fascist attempt—a Fascist denial of my constitutional rights."

In imposing sentence, Hoffman said Seale was guilty of "a deliberate and willful attack on the administration of justice."

"The intensity and extent of the disruptions has been so great that the record cannot reflect them in words. At times on a raid of the Black Panther these disruptions were accompanied by physical attacks," Seale asked Ray, "panicked by the judge said. He then gave orders to sit down."

Seale the opportunity to speak on his own behalf.

Snowplow Time In Some Parts Of the County

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON
Snowplows were out in Ulster County this morning as a mean mixture of rain, snow and cold continued into the second day. Heavy rains and high winds knocked out power lines in numerous county areas over night blacking out approximately 500 customers. Central Hudson crews continued repairs today in the Frost Valley section of the county where up to four inches of snow fell overnight. Mountain sections recorded more than 14 inches of heavy wet snow accumulation with more still falling. At Belleayre Ski Center 14 inches of snow were recorded at the base lodge this morning with even more on the upper mountain. A meal sure could not be taken at the higher elevation as routes were clogged with slippery snow.

Temperatures hovered at 30 degrees and more snow was falling. An official for the state-operated center said that if the snow held for the weekend there might be pre-season skiing Saturday.

County highway crews plowed Town of Denning roads in the Claryville-Sundown areas. Slide Mountain and Winnisook had up to 12 inches of snow. Cragmoor in the southern part of the county also had snow but roads were open without the help of plows.

Hope Wanes for Stone Ridge Man, Others on Missing Tug

By SHANE CROSBY

NEW YORK CITY
As Navy divers search the underwater area off North Carolina for signs of the missing tug Marjorie McAllister, lost Sunday with Joseph Clarke of Stone Ridge as Chief Engineer, one of the tug's owners said here today "we don't hold much hope" that the crew will be found alive.

Gerard McAllister said "we don't hold much hope" for the six being alive, "even if there was an air bubble—five days is a long time."

McAllister, Coast Guard and Navy officials had expressed hope during the first few days of the search that the crew might be alive in closed compartments on the apparently sunken Marjorie McAllister.

The pride of the McAllister

Brother's fleet of 50 tugs was last heard from early Sunday when the captain radioed that the tug was having electrical trouble and was taking water in 20-foot seas and 50-knot winds.

"We can replace the boat, but can't replace the men," said a McAllister brother as he talked with The Freeman about the fate of the crew. He said the company is in contact with the families of the six men, including Mrs. Marie Clarke of Route 213, Stone Ridge.

Meanwhile, Navy and Coast Guard ships and aircraft continue to comb the spot in the Atlantic that gave them "a good sonar contact" about 10 p.m. Wednesday. Lt. Howard Copeland of the Coast Guard in Portsmouth, Va., said divers would be sent down today to the spot where the tug may be sitting on the ocean floor, about 112 feet down.

The search is also continuing on the surface, Lt. Copeland said Wednesday, on the "slim chance" that the Marjorie McAllister did not go down.

Off the coast of Massachusetts, Navy and Coast Guard searchers also are looking for the stern section of a Liberian tanker with 36 crewmen that broke in two Wednesday in the storm tossed Atlantic.

Seven persons were rescued early today from a sinking sloop off Nantucket Island — near the presumed location of the oil tanker. The sloop Whisper radioed Wednesday that she was breaking up in the same storm that battered the missing tanker.

Ships and aircraft are looking for the tanker some 120 miles southeast of Nantucket Island in raging seas, whipped by an intense northeaster with 70-mile-an-hour winds.

Greene County, in the center of the current snow belt, had power problems, school and road closings as the snow continued today. Hunter-Tannersville schools got a snow holiday today. Route 23A in that area was closed to traffic.

Catskill utility crews worked through the night to restore storm damage to power lines and were still on the job today with an assist from Poughkeepsie Central Hudson repairmen.

At Cooper Lake Reservoir, more rain fell in a 24-hour period than was recorded during the entire month of October. Rain gauge registered 1.90 inches this morning as a mixture of rain and snow plopped out of the leaden skies.

Poughkeepsie Fire---One of the Worst

By WALTER S. CLARK

POUGHKEEPSIE
Officials estimated damage would run "into the hundreds of thousands of dollars," from a six-alarm fire in the heart of the city's business district.

A pair of three-story buildings were destroyed, as well as a restaurant, beauty salon and several stores. The blaze was one of the worst in the city's history.

The original fire was discovered at 1:30 a.m. yesterday and all city fire companies were dispatched to the scene. Companies from Fairview and Arlington were called in to assist, and several units from neighboring districts responded to cover up at the city fire station.

At 5:30 a.m. Merrick thought the fire was under control. A "clam digger" was brought in to remove the debris so firemen could reach flames that were burning in paint and other flammable material in the basement.

Shortly after 1 p.m. the digger was at work when suddenly there was a muffled rumble and flames shot high into the air," Merrick said. "Firemen were forced back by the heat of the blaze, which apparently developed when the scoop of the digger ruptured a drum of flammable fluid."

The flames rapidly swept to the nearby Captain's Table Restaurant on North Hamilton Street just off Main Street, and burned through four apartments, ordered vacated earlier by fire officials and police.

With the blaze out of control a second time, fire companies from Arlington, Highland, Fairview and Hyde Park were dispatched to the scene through mutual aid to assist. Flames licked the outer walls of the former Niagara Firehouse at the rear of the Main Street building, but firefighters managed to confine damage to window frames.

It was not until after 4 p.m. that officials reported the fire was under control for a second time.

Merrick reported that the building occupied by the wallpaper company and most of the three-story building next door were destroyed by the flames.

Also lost in the blaze was Josef and Anthony's Beauty Salon, the Double O Do Not Shop, and two other small stores.

A fire wall prevented fire from entering the Mitchell Furniture Co. store at the corner of Crane Street, although heavy damage from water and smoke was reported by the owner of the business, Richard W. Mitchell, mayor of the city.

During the early stages of the blaze, Ralph Hoyt, elderly dispatcher on duty in the DuBois Cab office at 385 Main Street, was felled by a heart attack apparently brought on by excitement. He was rushed by ambulance to Vassar Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Fire Chief Irving Merrick said investigation indicated that the blaze apparently originated near the furnace in the cellar. It was reported earlier by officials that the fire started in the rooms occupied by the City-County Republican headquarters.

The investigation is continuing.

Fire fighters were still at the scene this morning after working around the clock to quell the flames.

Seven hours after the fire was termed under control, flames burst forth in the debris and swept rapidly to a nearby restaurant and apartments at the rear of the Main Street building. Firemen were still at the scene this morning.

$20,000 Slice in Hurley Budget

HURLEY
Hurley Town Board in executive session Wednesday night adopted a revised budget now totaling $264,332 after approving several cuts totaling $20,282.

The preliminary budget of $284,614 presented at the Oct. 27 public hearing would have reflected an increase of $7.48 from the $20.95 rate on town charges per $1,000 of assessed valuation in the 1969 budget.

The new tax rate on town charges which will not be known until the final figures are worked out, will be considerably less than originally projected. When the preliminary budget was announced last week a possible increase of 25 per cent was projected for 1970. More than 75 persons attended the hearing and the possible areas of cuts in the budget were discussed.

The cuts approved last night were as follows:

- $6,000 by eliminating the traffic light proposed for Wall Street and Route 28 in West Hurley where fire traffic enters Route 28.
- $8,000 by cutting the machinery fund covering capital improvements, including a second town highway garage. A reserve fund of $10,000 was proposed in the original budget for future highway equipment and capital improvements. This was cut to $2,000.

- $3,882 by eliminating a part of the Town Constabulary and the hiring of a new constable.
- Supervisor Robert Schneller said other arrangements will be made and constables will continue to use their own cars and charge expenses to the town.
- $2,000 from the highway fund to eliminate the cost of equipment rentals.
- $300 decrease in the supervisor's salary. Councilman George Schroeder, who is supervisor elect, proposed the cut in salary for himself from $2,700 to $2,400.

• $100 cut in the bookkeeper's salary from $1,600 to $1,500.

Supervisor Schneller said this is the first time there has been a drastic change in the budget at a preliminary hearing. According to town law only cuts in the preliminary budget can be entertained.

Under the preliminary figures revealed at the Oct. 27 hearing a total of $212,838 would have been necessary to raise by taxation. The figure will now be cut by $20,282.

In the 1969 budget a total of $165,938 had to be raised by taxation for the budget of $241,859. With the cuts approved last night the increase over the 1969 budget will total about $22,473 and will still require an increase in the town tax rate.

This town tax rate when figured will be added to the tax rate for county charges and the total will be charged against the assessed valuation of the township.

At the hearing Schneller, who was defeated Tuesday by Schroeder, promised that some cuts would be made and said the increases are due to increased costs in the operation of town government and in the highway budget. He noted that estimated revenues will be lower because of cuts in state aid.

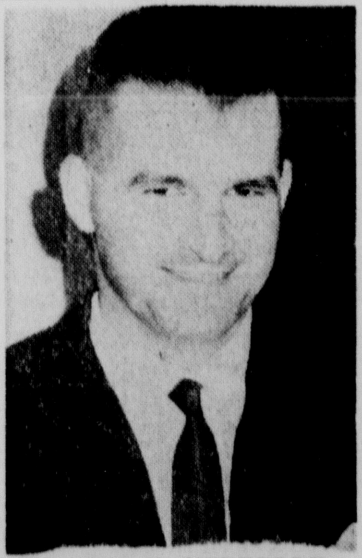

Fire officials said one fireman was injured when a wall collapsed. Another suffered burns when a blast of heat hit him. Neither was considered serious.

Main Street was still blocked off today to traffic between Clinton Square and Market Street.

Snow spread over most of the central section of New York State late yesterday with ice storms reported in Austerlitz, Salem and Petersburg, all along the state's eastern border.

Violent storms along the Mid-Atlantic coast earlier this week downed the tugboat, Marjorie McAllister off the North Carolina Coast. Veteran engineer Joseph Clarke of Stone Ridge was a member of the six-man crew. Today storm warnings were in effect off the Atlantic shoreline where 20-foot seas were expected.

A large high pressure system is keeping a good share of the nation in a fair weather pattern but is responsible for the violent storms continuing in the Northeast and Northwest sections.

Pollution Laws Burn Up Rhinebeck Mayor

RHINEBECK
Elections are over for the year, but Rhinebeck Village Mayor Peter F. Sipperley has embarked on a different kind of campaign, that of getting rid of "asinine" portions of the state and county air pollution laws.

Sipperley has made public his feelings in this issue before, but has decided to make official his comments on burning leaves.

"As mayor of the Village of Rhinebeck I am publicly denouncing as unworkable and asinine the state and county portion of the air pollution law which prohibits the burning of leaves," he stated today.

"I must further protest the Dutchess County Board of Health's vigorous enforcement of this law when in other areas of health violations no action is taken."

"Within the last week an employee of the Board of Health has been daily touring the village and using the 'I am the law' approach, has sought to force certain people to report their neighbors who were burning leaves," claims the mayor.

"I might add that these tactics are quite common on the east side of the Iron Curtain, but cannot be justified on the west side. I am, therefore, demanding a public apology to these residents by the Board of Health for its unpardonable action, and am prepared to take more drastic action if said apology is not forthcoming," he said.

Sipperley said that threats and intimidations against townships and villages can continue to attempt to halt open burning, but that this is just a cover to hide the fact that "they have been unable to take effective action against the real violators of the air pollution laws."

The Mayor outlined steps taken by the village to comply with the leaf burning ban, including the purchase of a $3,000 leaf loader and leaf pickup program. He said the issue was complicated by the fact that only 50 per cent of the leaves have been picked up, but with present rains the job becomes nearly impossible. "Many residents have been burning them anyway," he related.

"The leaves not picked up create a nuisance to people who have already cleaned their yards, blowing around, and create a hazard to children through fire or suffocation," he said.

Sipperley puts some blame on the state and county taking the prerogative away from town and village on leaf burning. "We in local government do not need 'Big Brother' to lead us around on a leash," he said.

More common sense on the part of higher authority would prevent these situations from arising in the first place."

The Mayor does not blame his work crews, who are in their fourth week of leaf work due to the law, and have done a "mammoth task under overwhelming odds."

Assemblyman Emeel Betros of Poughkeepsie introduced a bill in the state legislature this year which would have returned much of the power of control of open burning back to the local communities. It was passed by the legislature, but vetoed by Gov. Rockefeller. The Governor stated that he desired to give the State Air Pollution Board a chance to make changes in its laws without interference. There has been no action on this point.

Mayor Sipperley continued, "Any law which can cause endangerment to life or property is nothing better than a formal insult. As long as I am mayor I will bend every effort to insure that this law will be changed or, as a last resort, violated to prevent our community from being turned into a tinder box, trash pile, or parlor of danger."

He concluded, "At a time of rising costs of government and considering the rising tax rate, we in the Village of Rhinebeck have been abused for the last time."

When Ransom Demanded

Youth Already Dead

PATRICK DOLAN

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The American businessman's son who was kidnapped and killed on a farm near Sao Paulo was already dead when his abductors demanded $12,500 ransom, Brazilian police say.

Authorities said Patrick Dolan, 18-year-old son of the vice president of Swift and Co. of Brazil, was kidnapped by two men while on his way to school last Thursday and was shot and buried on their farm a few miles west of the city.

Police kept the kidnapping secret in hopes of recovering the youth alive. But they found his body Wednesday and later announced the arrest of Jose Dias Rezende and his 25-year-old son, Jose Daniel Dias Rezende, an acquaintance of the victim. They were charged with the kidnapping.

Officers said one or both of the kidnapers picked up Dolan in a car as he waited for a bus to take him to the American School, where he was a senior. After killing him, police said, the Rezendes contacted his father, Richard J. Dolan, and demanded the $12,500 ransom.

Dolan, following instructions in notes and telephone calls, left the money in his car at a Sao Paulo cemetery. The kidnapers did not pick it up and later instructed him to put it in a garbage can near the city airport.

Dolan complied, and the kidnapers apparently retrieved the money from the garbage can. They asked Monday for a second payment of $12,500, but did not say where to leave it and made no further contact with the family.

Police arrested the younger Rezende Tuesday night. They said he confessed, told them where they could find the body, and implicated his father. Officers arrested the father late Wednesday.

Moriello Asks Paltz Shift

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

NEW PALTZ

The Supervisor of the Town of New Paltz has called for the disincorporation of this southern Ulster village in order to more effectively "serve the entire community."

Anthony Moriello, who made these remarks at a recent candidates night function here, said that the move would be "more efficient and less restrictive to the people of the village who have limited tax base and in some areas are involved in supporting dual services."

Moriello, who was easily re-elected to his post Tuesday, explained that during the coming year, the rapidly growing Town of New Paltz would be eligible for first class town status and that this would call for a reorganization of the government.

He pointed out that while many of these changes could be instituted by the town board one in particular is not within the power of the town government to decide but could certainly receive our personal and private support.

"This is the dis-incorporation of the village and the forming of one government to serve the entire community of New Paltz," Moriello continued. Moriello pointed out that the recommendation was not intended to fault the village government, noting that "cooperation between the village and town has never been better."

Most village officials were surprised by Moriello's ideas about the future of village government.

New Paltz Mayor Henry Du-bois told The Freeman that he would study the proposal more carefully before rendering comment.

stead of 68, and the village's 12 instead of 21 cents.

In other business, it was decided to name a committee to prepare a report for County Executive David Schoneta on the state's Erwin Plan for aid to highways in local districts.

Schoenta will attend a meeting in Hudson, Nov. 19, sponsored by the Town Highway Improvement Program.

And a report on a possible county-wide junk car removal plan by District Two Representative Robert D'Archevesque was read by Supervisor Rowland Sharpe.

It outlined the plan as similar to that used by Columbia County to rid the county of approximately 60,000 junk cars. One-half acre on the river front would be needed, where John Reich would set up his machine to crush a two-car package into a 22-inch cube, processing 100 cars per day for transport on barges down the river.

The entire population of junk cars could conceivably be removed in four to six months. Private parties would be paid up to $8 per car, depending on weight, and a towing service would have to be paid $5 per car by each municipality in further study.

The town gained a new Supervisor Simmons com-street, named Tappen Place, mented that the present system off Wolcott Drive, through a with a private contractor had motion. It is a dead-end street resulted in there being no junk with six building lots, and was cars left in the Town of Rhinebeck as of three weeks ago. perintendent George Wyant.

Picketing at Local Telephone Offices

KINGSTON Some 130 members of Local 1120, Communications Workers of America have walked off the job and are picketing the New York Telephone Company offices on Converse Street in a labor dispute with the company.

Leroy Terwilliger, vice president of the Kingston local, said the walkout was "99 per cent effective" throughout the state.

The local's president, Robert Smith, is in New York City as a member of the union negotiating team that will meet with company officials late today.

Regular service is expected to be maintained by management personnel from the company.

The striking repairmen and installers were reportedly told to return to work by union officials yesterday but refused. The union officials, Howard Baker and Morton Bahr, told a federal judge in Brooklyn yesterday that they would order their members to return to work. The two were being held on charges of civil and criminal contempt of court.

The dispute is over starting wages and wage progressions in a contract reopener. The strike began Tuesday in New York City and spread upstate to Kingston, Buffalo, Syracuse and other areas.

A spokesman for the Telephone Company termed the walkout "the latest in a series of pressure tactics by CWA" and said the strike was a violation of a contract between CWA and the telephone company.

"as was an earlier union ordered embargo on overtime work."

Union officials say the company had agreed to a state mediator, Vincent McDonald, but then later reneged. CWA says it is being locked out by the company.

McDonald was the mediator when the two factions got together today.

Rosendale, Marbletown Boards Get Ordinances on Zoning

By SHANE CROSBY

ROSENDALE The Town Board of Rosendale received its zoning commission's recommendations for a proposed Zoning Ordinance here Wednesday and according to reelected Supervisor Gerard DeFelice the board "feels it is good" and "people are satisfied with the proposed law."

DeFelice said the board will hold a public hearing on the zoning law Dec. 2 at 7 p.m. in the Maple Hill community building. He said no "dissenters" have been heard concerning the law that would control development in the township outside of the incorporated Village of Rosendale. The village had recently passed its own ordinance on zoning.

In Marbletown, Supervisor Roy Webber and his board accepted their zoning commission's recommended ordinance and will schedule a public hearing "at some future date" after board members examine the proposal.

Webber said he could not give an opinion of the board's feeling on the ordinance until each member has gone over the final revised draft.

Town attorney John Wilkie said Webber has looked at the draft and has given his approval with "a number of grammar changes."

He said the Zoning Commission had made a few "technical" changes in the proposal since its last hearing and before presentation here Wednesday at the monthly meeting of the board.

No date was given by Webber for the town's public hearing, except to say that "a number of dates" are being considered.

The Rosendale supervisor said that the town will have to find a successor for Councilman Glenn Debrosky who was elected to the county legislature Tuesday from the seventh district of Rosendale and Esopus.

DeFelice said the town board will appoint a successor by Jan. 1, and said the term of office will be until the next general election at which time the council seat is again up for vote.

Ulster Town Adopts Budget, Slight Increase in Tax Rate

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The Town of Ulster preliminary budget totaling $343,545 was adopted by the Town Board Wednesday night with no changes following a public hearing held in Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

Only six persons of about 49 in attendance commented on the budget which will result in a tax rate of $20.47 for town charges as compared with 1969 when the rate was $19.23. The town tax rate is added to the rate for county charges which will be known in December and the total is charged against the assessed valuation of the township.

Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz said George Trowbridge, town Conservative chairman, made a comparison between the appropriations for operation of the landfill dump and recreation. The landfill sum is listed at $10,500 and the recreation figure is $7,600 which will be lowered by anticipated state aid of $1,000.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz explained the landfill operation and the cost of bringing in fill to cover the refuse. He also noted that the summer recreation program is not too well attended because many residents have their own pools. The winter program by contrast is very well patronized. The winter program are conducted at the Chambers and Lake Katrine Schools.

The purchase of a pickup truck for the use of the highway superintendent was questioned. It was pointed out in a previous Town Board meeting that the town highway superintendent gets a flat fee of $2,000 for the use of his personal vehicle and a saving could be effected by purchasing a pickup truck through state bidding at a cost of $1,600. The supervisor said the $2,000 is in the budget.

However, the Town Board will have to decide the best course of action in the matter and this can still be changed. The town's Salary Study Committee made the original recommendation to purchase a pickup truck for the town to effect the saving.

The total appropriation in the general fund covering the cost of local government operation totals $174,740, an increase of $4,950.20, leaving $35,194 to be raised by taxation.

The highway appropriation totals $168,805, an increase of $18,348.95. The overall tax rate increase for the town operations will be about $1.24 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Bruce Burgher, defeated Democratic candidate for assessor, commended the fiscal officer (Musialkiewicz) for working the budget as closely as possible and said he was "well satisfied" with the figures.

The regular Town Board meeting will be held 8 o'clock tonight at Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

VICTORY LUNCHEON — Jubilant over the Tuesday election results, President Nixon greets two winning Republican gubernatorial candidates — Rep. William T. Cahill of New Jersey (L) and Linwood Holton of Virginia (R) — as they arrive for a victory luncheon at the White House on Wednesday. In background are Vice President and Mrs. Agnew. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

GOP Strategists on Voting-- Running Start for the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican strategists say GOP statehouse victories in New Jersey and Virginia have given the party a running start toward grabbing control of the Senate next year.

Further buoying Republican hopes would be President Nixon's active campaigning in the 1970 congressional elections, a likely prospect in view of the credit going his way from Tuesday's results.

Linwood Holton's victory in Virginia, the first Republican to win the statehouse there in more than 80 years, and William T. Cahill's success in New Jersey were seen as personal triumphs for Nixon since he campaigned in both states.

Democrats now control the Senate, 57 votes to 43. A net gain of seven seats next year—when 25 Democratic terms expire—would give Republicans that Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., has repeatedly been rumored for the next four years, the UPI reported today.

Lindsay also said he favored such a coalition on a national basis but expressed opposition to a national third party because its organization would be too time consuming.

The mayor was meeting today with his fusion advisory council and promised to hold a news conference after the session.

Sub Project Breakthrough Might Mean a Site Switch

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A possibility the Navy's billion-dollar "Sanguine" system for broadcasting will penetrate water.

Specifications for the system called for an antenna made of 6,000 miles of underground cable spread over 10,000 square miles of uniform rock formation. Northern Wisconsin, where some residents opposed the project, was the only suitable site because of rock formations there.

But a breakthrough involving the use of more power has made it possible to reduce the space requirements by 90 percent, scientists report. Now, only 600 miles of cable will be needed over 1,000 square miles of rock—making a number of sites across the country acceptable.

Although the system still could be built in Wisconsin, defense sources said the opposition generated there since Project Sanguine was revealed a year ago would be a factor arguing against location in that state.

A "State Committee to Stop Project Sanguine," headed by history Prof. Kemp Shifferd of Northland College, Ashland, Wis., lists 350 prominent members. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., is one of the project's most outspoken foes.

The system is designed to generate on a worldwide basis extremely long-wave radio beams that submarines can receive at depths as great as 2,000 feet with existing equipment. Only long-wave radio could be built in Wisconsin, defense sources said the opposition generated there since Project Sanguine was revealed a year ago would be a factor arguing against location in that state.

Other acceptable sites are said to lie farther West from Wisconsin. If the entire 6,000-mile cable system were to be built as originally planned, a trade-off feature in the new discovery would make possible its operation with 90 per cent less power. A strong argument against this, however, is that it is cheaper to add power than it is to lay cable.

The communication sought is strictly one-way. Submarines would still have to rise at least to periscope depth to broadcast replies to messages if these were necessary.

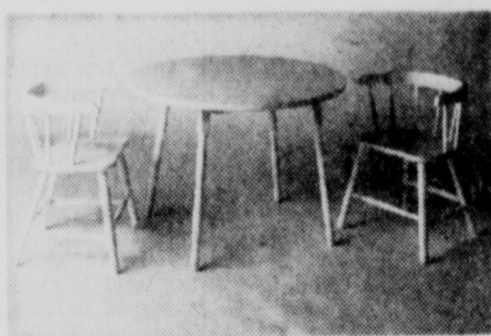

The experiments include 28 miles of cable placed above ground in the form of a cross and fed by 2.4 million watts of electric power near Clam Lake, Wis.

Ray on the Election— Happy, Also Disappointed

BY HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, now officially a "lame duck," viewed Tuesday's election results with mixed feelings.

On one hand, he was "very happy" that Francis R. Koenig, the man he endorsed on the Democrat Liberal line, was elected. On the other, he was disappointed that his son, R. Abel Garraghan, was not elected to the post of county legislature from Kingston.

The mayor offered a bit of fatherly advice to his son, who lost at his first attempt for office. "I was beaten seven times in the old Second Ward and I never gave up. He'll (the younger Garraghan) be back. He'll have to campaign harder, though. These things aren't automatic."

Garraghan said he couldn't understand why his son didn't receive the Conservative Party endorsement. "Abel is one of the most conservative young men I know. I don't see why the Conservatives didn't endorse him."

The defeat of Democrat Mario Procaccino in New York City has apparently caused Garraghan to rule out any plans to run for governor.

Speaking on John Lindsay's victory, Garraghan said, "Lindsay's victory in New York will lead to the further decay of our society. But he'll probably walk out from under the load and seek the nomination for U. S. senator or governor."

Garraghan said the defeat of

MAYOR GARRAGHAN

Procaccino, who was a guest at the mayor's home in Windham this past summer, "proved that you can't trust the leaders of the Democratic Party in New York City. I don't want to run for governor if I have to deal with those people," he said.

Garraghan expressed some surprise at Koenig's 3,900 vote plurality. "I figured him for about 3,000. I guess that makes me number three now," Garraghan was referring to the fact that he had been the number two all time plurality winner in 1967 behind Conrad Heiselman's 3,200-vote margin in 1939. Garraghan beat C. John Bechtold by 2,700 votes two years ago.

The mayor played down his own part in Koenig's sweeping victory. "This is Frank's victory, not mine," he said. Garraghan allowed, however, that "the effort that I put forth (during the past four years) left a good taste in the mouths of the voters. They appreciated that. They knew I was backing Koenig. That may have been some help to him."

Garraghan said that his successor would have an open invitation to the mayor's office from now until Jan. 1 when he is sworn in. "We'll have an orderly transition of government just like they do in Washington and Albany," Garraghan said. "The new mayor should be familiar with all the problems of this office."

The mayor said that he would invite Koenig and all 13 aldermen to work on the budget for 1970 with him. "They'll have all the facts and figures," he said.

Garraghan would like to see Koenig complete his work on a new city hall Downtown and to support the recreation commission and the historical commission, two new boards established by Garraghan during his term of office.

As for his future plans, Garraghan plans to take "a good vacation" to Europe and then return to business.

He will continue his interest in civic affairs. "It is the duty of every citizen to take an active part in the affairs of his community. Anyone who doesn't is shirking his responsibility," he concluded.

Dr. Arnold on Incident:

Clarification and Details

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of Saugerties Central Schools, in a report offered clarification and details of the flag being on a sheet of cardboard.

Catholic Vets' Mass, Supper On Saturday

KINGSTON

St. Ignatius Loyola Catholic War Veterans Post 1769 Saturday will hold a Mass and communion supper. The local post has been conducting these services for a number of years in observance of Veterans Day.

At 6 p.m. a Mass in the Holy Name of Jesus Church, 11 Fitch Street, will be celebrated by the Rev. John Russell, pastor, and chaplain of the local post. At 7 p.m. members and guests will dine.

Additional information is available from Ben Gulnick or Bart Stuart.

Dr. Arnold further explained the reason why the minutes of the special meeting were not with the peace symbol in blue, the flag available for inspection of this school officials said the flag was displayed for less than two days and a half after the meeting. He said the text of the minutes had not been approved and therefore could not be made public at that time.

Dr. Arnold said the teacher was dismissed on his recommendation at a special meeting of Saugerties Central School Board Wednesday night. Arnold said Roach was immediately suspended for 30 days and therefore did not return to the classroom.

The poster reportedly displayed on the pegboard by a 19-year-old part time student is similar to a flag with the peace symbol (a 'Y' in a circle) in the center and a crudely torn field of stars in the upper left-hand corner. The Paltz Middle School has scheduled a Parents' Night for Monday, Nov. 10 at 8 p.m. Teachers will be available to discuss the achievement of children. In order to allow the teacher to see as many parents as possible, it is recommended that parents restrict their visitation to each teacher to not more than 10 minutes. Those wishing additional time may make an appointment to see the teacher at some other time.

Paltz Parent Night

NEW PALTZ

In observance of American Education Week, Nov. 9-15, and because the first quarter marking period has ended, the New Paltz Middle School has scheduled a Parents' Night for Monday, Nov. 10 at 8 p.m. Teachers will be available to discuss the achievement of children.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 6, 1969

Civil War Threat

Perhaps we are not well aware of the implications of the coming November 15 antiwar demonstrations; nor do we realize how these "peace" gatherings and marches will be used.

At the Los Angeles Press Club, of all places, a small pro-China group of the U.S. Communist party the other day called for "insurrection in the streets" at the Nov. 15 war moratorium. The pro-China spokesmen called for bringing "civil war" to the United States.

It is unbelievable that Americans, even young Americans, will talk seriously of insurrection in our streets, and consider civil war. But this is what imported radical thought and propaganda has produced. We can expect the Ides of November to produce the most determined efforts to create the worst street riots and civil strife which this country has experienced since 1865.

Hundreds and thousands of otherwise well-meaning persons, both adult and young, have been misled by written and spoken vicious campaigns, either hate or false-peace-filled; or by drugs which make them see these perpetrators through a rosy haze.

They have come to feel it is noble to "fight and die on the barricades" to "stop the war." They are determined not to cease these pressures until our country gives up every type of defense effort, all our self-protection. They are, most of them unknowingly, plunging this country into the worst kind of continuing blood bath, perhaps to cost thousands their lives.

Extended Compensation

The House Ways and Means Committee has been unusually busy this session. After formulating the broad tax reform bill, which was promptly passed by the House, it has just extended unemployment compensation benefits to about four million nonfarm workers, and would levy higher taxes on employers. The House also is expected to pass this package promptly.

Among the new workers covered are those employed by very small firms, many salesmen, food process workers, of non-profit organizations and Americans employed by firms overseas. The Nixon Administration wanted coverage for the 400,000 farm workers in the nation, but this the committee rejected. The Senate might put it in its version of the bill.

The committee voted to increase the employer's tax from four-tenths of one per cent of the first $3,000 of a worker's salary to five-tenths and to raise the taxable wage base to $4,200 by 1972. An extra 13 weeks of unemployment benefits is provided all unemployed workers, should the national unemployment rate reach 4.5 per cent for three months.

Our commitment to unemployment compensation is well established. There is no just reason for excluding any class of workers, not even those in agriculture. This almost all-inclusive bill will correct previous unjust omissions. But it will raise the cost of doing business, even to the smallest concern.

Buwer's Bill of Rights

Consumers are going to have a statutory office pleading their case in the White House. It will replace the President's special assistant for consumer affairs and strengthen her authority and broaden her jurisdiction. We say this flatly because not only has President Nixon presented a "Buyer's Bill of Rights" but there are consumer protection bills in both House and Senate with wide sponsorship and something is bound to come out of all these efforts.

The President's approach uses his new consumer's affairs office as the catalyst resolving conflicts, setting guidelines and riding herd on the various offices now concerned with consumer affairs in the Justice Department, the Federal Trade Commission, and the Office of Economic Opportunity. The other bills would create an office in which all these functions would be centralized to remove any chance of conflict or overlap.

Without going into the advantages and disadvantages of these approaches—in the hope that they will be exposed to public debate and resolved in Congress—the important thing is to recognize that there is considerable sentiment, both in the Executive and Legislative branches, for consumer protection, and that as a result some effective legislation should emerge.

Ralph Nader has made a career of exposing consumer frauds and deceptions for a number of years. Some of his efforts have borne fruit. This flurry of activity is an indirect recognition of his crusade for consumers. Nader welcomed the President's message as "a leap out of the darkness" but he agreed with legislators that concentration, not diffusion of effort, is best for consumer protection. Consumer affairs cut across so many agencies, the quickest way to protect them may well be, as the President says, through cooperative effort directed and supervised from the White House.

"Et Tu, Mr. Justice Berger?"

David Lawrence Says Vietnamization of War Is Nearing Fulfillment

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has found a way to solve the Vietnam problem so far as it involves the United States. He asks the South Vietnamese Government to assume full responsibility for fighting the war. This means that the build-up of a large army will have been virtually completed in the next few months and that American forces will be able to withdraw in large part some time in 1970.

But Mr. Nixon, while indicating the process of America's pullout of its combat forces, is not abandoning South Vietnam. American military experts and technicians will be on hand, and there will be a continuous flow of munitions and supplies to the South Vietnamese. This is the strategy which now is practiced by the Soviets and the Red Chinese at a high annual cost but without casualties.

Mr. Nixon cannot specify what he will do in every contingency. It is clear that if major attacks occur or there are threats of a mobilization of larger forces against South Vietnam, the United States will be in a position to reconsider and determine just what steps can be taken at once to help the South Vietnamese.

Mr. Nixon has in mind the Vietnamization of the war. He has been seeking this all along, but he has not been able to demonstrate the meaning of that term as he can today. The Saigon government is well aware of Mr. Nixon's plans to withdraw American forces.

In a nutshell, therefore, the South Vietnamese will be fighting their own war, and the United States will be helping them — not with manpower but with money and supplies. This should satisfy those elements of American public opinion which have been ignoring the importance of the Vietnam settlement to the future of Asia and have been concentrating solely on getting American soldiers back home.

But the prospect of a bigger war has been worrying the countries of Southeast Asia for some time. Mr. Nixon has made it clear from time to time that the United States should always be in a position to fulfill its pledges as proclaimed in the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty — namely, to help preserve the right of the peoples of each country to determine their own form of government and to be free from acts of aggression. Naturally, he would ask Congress to authorize any use of military force.

This is, therefore, really not a new turn of policy but a carrying out of the promise made by President Nixon to place the main burden of the war on the shoulders of the South Vietnamese. They have been fully aware that this move was coming, and they have asked for various kinds of military advisers to help them in training and arming sufficient forces for major combat operations as well as for countering guerrilla warfare.

Mr. Nixon's speech should satisfy domestic public opinion because it means accomplishing the purpose of a almost completely withdrawing troops, while at the same time South Vietnam will not be helpless or too weak to resist its adversaries.

In reviewing what has occurred since the United States announced a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam, Mr. Nixon has stressed again that America has done everything possible to encourage a constructive agreement at the Paris conference. But since Hanoi has refused to make any reciprocal concessions, the United States, while leaving the matter mainly to South Vietnam, could at any time announce a readiness to be of help if North Vietnam launched a large-scale attempt to take over South Vietnam. The latter is not anticipated, however, as American troops will not withdraw completely till the South Vietnamese are strong enough to defend themselves. This means that the current low level of enemy action will have to continue for a long period before all American forces are pulled out.

The new American program has been carefully studied for many weeks, and is not the result of any impulsive decision. The President recognizes that American public opinion has always favored the return of American troops as soon as South Vietnam was prepared to assume full responsibility. What has happened is that the Vietnamization of the war has come to the point of fulfillment. While many things can develop in the next few months, the outlook is for a steady build-up of South Vietnamese military strength as American troops gradually move back home.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

This time it wasn't Bridgit Malloy's fault. No one, not even her husband, Police Sergeant John Malloy, would believe her. And that's the pity of it because she was truly accident-prone. Worse, she invented new types of accidents. But this one shouldn't have been charted to her account.

Mrs. Malloy is the slender brunette with the cascade of phony curls who sits in the admitting office at Townside Hospital. She is young and lovely and she asks questions like "married or single?" "Have you got hospitalization?"

Malloy told the police chief that his wife was so near-sighted that she had special eyeglasses for putting her lashes on straight. When her husband aggravated Bridgit — which wasn't often — she would sit prim straight in a chair and pop a contact lens which, of course, the sergeant would be impelled to find.

At the hospital, a nervous interne saw Mrs. Malloy walking into an elevator shaft and barely managed to pull her away. "Oh," she said, "I thought the elevator was here but that someone turned the light off." Mrs. Malloy is not the only woman to catch her flesh in a zipper, but she holds the record for how many times.

The sergeant was short and patient, but that is written in the past tense. The sergeant is short and jumpy, and man who rides the midnight to 8 a.m. patrol wondering aloud how much it would cost to buy a glass bell big enough to hold his wife. He has a flat dark face and he wears his uniform cap low over his eyes.

There are no children yet, but they have plenty of time. This is another event — or lack of it — which is not Bridgit Malloy's fault. She wants children. So does the sergeant. Bridgit may be the only woman known to have said to her physician: "If there are pills to keep you from having children it ought to be easy to devise a pill to make you pregnant."

Her little sports car had no fenders to speak of. She managed to shave them off along the garage wall. On the night that it wasn't Bridgit Malloy's fault, she was driving home from the hospital. The time was 4 a.m. — still dark as the inside of the sergeant's head.

She took the usual empty route, down Main to Cedar, a right on Cedar through the farmland and woods, then out into the little array of sugar cube houses called Townside Village. She was minding her own business doing 20 miles an hour through the woods when a large object came into view on the left side of her windshield, crossing toward the right.

There was no time to put on the footbrake. She hit that farm horse so solidly that he slid up the hood feet first, smashed the windshield, and kicked her a glancing blow on the neck before continuing over the top of the car and expiring behind it.

Mrs. Malloy was not badly hurt. She sat rigid, with her hands still on the bent wheel, screaming. It was a blessing that her husband and a patrolman passed in the opposite direction a few minutes later. He ran to her side and forced the door open. "Darling!" he roared. "What the hell happened?"

She tried to stem the tears and the screams. "I just hit a very large man or a small elephant," she said, and fainted. Malloy's aide used a flashlight and saw that the horse was beyond redemption, so they rushed Bridgit to the hospital. The lady recovered consciousness and couldn't believe she had hit a horse. "He kicked me," she said, feeling her neck. "That," said her husband, "doesn't square you with the horse."

At the hospital, she was helped into the emergency room. A doctor put Bridgit on a stretcher and found superficial contusions, including the free kick after touchdown. Malloy had his pen out, moaning: "How the hell do I make out a police report that my wife did not give the right of way to a loose horse? Who is going to believe this?"

The new admitting room clerk, who worked 4 a.m. to noon, sidled up to Bridgit Malloy and began the usual questions: "Name?" "Address?" "Married or single?" even though she knew the answers. "Do you have hospitalization?" the girl asked.

Mrs. Malloy popped up on the stretcher. "Oh no you don't!" she yelled at the clerk. "John, drive me home." It wasn't her fault. Really...

Jack Anderson Says Connecticut Congressman Giaimo Intercedes for Mafia Members

WASHINGTON — This column has turned over to the Justice Department evidence that Rep. Robert Giaimo, D-Conn., tried to keep two Mafia couriers out of the clutches of the Selective Service and the U.S. Army. He intervened at the urging of Bernard J. Semel, a fireworks magnate bankrolled by the Mafia.

Even more astonishing, the affable Giaimo keeps up a lively personal friendship with a notorious New England organized crime figure named Paul Coppola. Until recently, they were business partners in a New London, Conn., apartment house.

Under the protective cloak of a federal grand jury subpoena, one of the couriers, James Piccolo, is now telling government lawmen how he used to deliver cash across state lines for the Mafia. He has also sworn that his brother, Anthony, is still running errands for the dreaded underworld society.

In 1965, the Connecticut Congressman kept James Piccolo out of the draft for six months and, in 1968, wangled an early Army discharge for Anthony. Congressmen usually don't intercede with government agencies for people outside their district, yet neither of the Mafia runners has ever lived in Connecticut.

Leslie Whitten of my staff has questioned James Piccolo at length. We have checked out his story as far as possible and have found the details to be accurate. The Justice Department is also using his sworn statements in its crackdown upon organized crime.

No Questions Asked
Piccolo has identified the Congressman's friend, Paul Coppola, as an underworld "Shylock" who loans money with no questions asked but collects his pound of flesh from borrowers who can't pay.

In the illicit loan shark business, the victims often are respectable people caught in a financial snare and desperate for quick cash. Mafia money is the easiest to borrow and the hardest to repay. It is passed under the table without any legal formalities. But the borrower mortgages not only his holdings but his health.

The reckoning — and awakening — comes later when he finds it takes most of his weekly payments just to keep up with the interest rates, which run as steep as 20 per cent a week. This is called "juice" in underworld parlance, and it is extracted without mercy from the luckless borrowers. For those who miss a payment or complain, a brutal beating is routine.

"Bernie" Semel, father of the plastic cherry bomb, fell into the toils of the Mafia moneylenders. He tried to patent his dangerous invention in 1961. His application was disapproved, but Semel went into production anyway.

For capital, he borrowed money at Shylock rates from Coppola in Connecticut and from Charles "Fuffi" Rivezzo in New York City. The latter has been identified as an underling of Carmine "The Doctor" Lombardo, a notorious Mafia mobster. Coppola "guaranteed" repayment of Semel's loans to the New York Mafia, according to Piccolo, who carried the cash to Semel and delivered the interest payments back to Coppola and Rivezzo.

Cold Cash
Once, Piccolo hid $17,000 in underworld loans in an aluminum foil wrap in his freezer for safekeeping over a weekend. Another time, the Mafia sent a 320-pound thug named "George" to encourage Semel to come up with a $30,000 payment.

George's orders: If Semel didn't produce the money within a week, break one of his arms. On the next day, if no money, break the other arm. Semel borrowed enough from customers and others to meet the deadline.

He got so deeply in hock to the mobsters, however, that they took over control of his fireworks firm. Both Piccolo brothers helped load trucks in Baltimore for Mafia men taking fireworks illegally to New York, Illinois and other states where sales are restricted or banned.

Ho Death, Rift in Hanoi Saps Red's Viet Strength

By LEON DENNEN
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA) — Torn by political dissension, the Communists are no longer as serious a threat to the government of South Vietnam as they still were 10 months ago when President Nixon entered the white House.

Even if they are in a position to mount minor military offensive they can no longer win a free election in a country where about 90 per cent of the population is now said to be living in more or less secure areas.

In the view of Asian diplomats, this is a major reason for Nixon's new peace initiative. They also see a direct link between Moscow's sudden decision to begin strategic arms limitation talks with the United States — scheduled to start in Helsinki, Finland, Nov. 17 — and the President's latest effort to move off dead center the Vietnamese negotiations.

There is no longer any doubt that the death of North Vietnam's President Ho Chi Minh removed from the political arena the one charismatic Communist who could have gained the allegiance of many South Vietnamese.

It also accelerated the struggle for power in Hanoi and produced serious rifts between Viet Cong moderates who believe that a prolongation of the war will reduce their effectiveness and their North Vietnamese sponsors. Torn between pro-Peking hawks and pro-Moscow "doves," the once monolithic front of the Vietnamese Communists is reported crumbling.

Ho Chi Minh was regarded in Vietnam, North and South, as a great and genuine nationalist leader who wanted to unite the country. But his temporary successor as president, Ton Duc Thong, is hardly known outside Hanoi.

In evaluating the question of succession, it must also be remembered that there is hardly one individual among the contenders for power whose elevation to the highest position would not be in-pro-Chinese or pro-Russian faction.

In fact, Moscow is currently exerting every effort to undermine the position of Red China's supporters in Hanoi — said to include Communist party secretary Le Duan and Truong Chinh, chairman of the National Assembly — who are against a negotiated peace settlement and even a cease-fire in Vietnam.

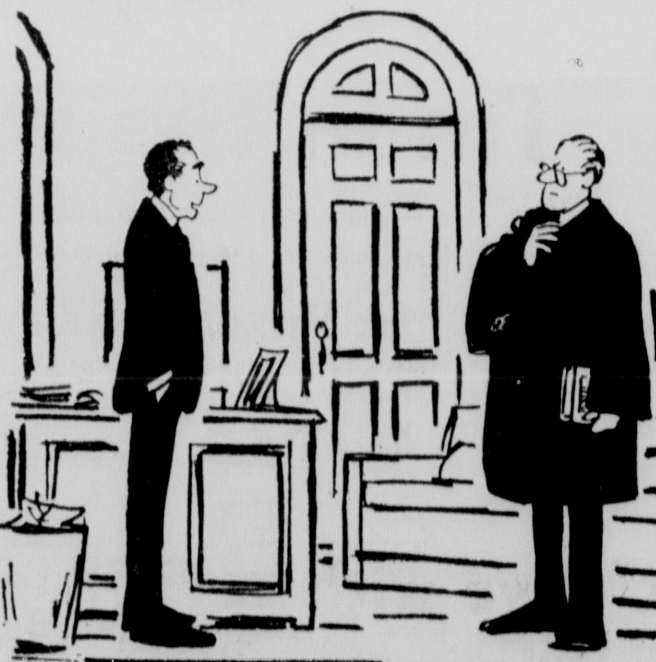

There are, of course, many reasons why the Soviet leaders would like to see and end to the war. They have long ago abandoned hope for a Viet Cong victory on the battlefield. They obviously believe that with the backing of the vocal "peace advocates" in the United States, the Communists, as usual, could gain greater concessions at the bargaining table.

But a more urgent reason is the Russians' need for a friendly North Vietnam and at least a neutral South Vietnam if their plans for an anti-Chinese Asian security system are ever to become a reality. Such a system, first proposed by Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev in June, is emerging as the key to Soviet policy in Asia.

The Kremlin leaders fear the Red Chinese — even as they negotiate border adjustments with them — more than the United States. And Peking, ever alert to Moscow's schemes, has already denounced the Nov. 17 talks as another "conspiracy of American-Soviet imperialism."

President Nixon has obviously taken all these factors into consideration.

Soul Salute Binds Young Viet GIs

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Paris Correspondent
LONG BINH, South Vietnam
(NEA) — One sees it everywhere in this war now, even on the battlefield: the clenched fist.

Two soldiers, worn and wilted, pass in the early evening. One coming in from patrol. One going out. They say nothing with their mouths. Only with their eyes. Then their arms rise and fingers close in the comradely "soul salute."

The gesture started, GIs say, as an important from the Black Power symbol of the civil rights movement.

At first, only black soldiers accepted it. Unit commanders condemned it.

Now, however, the gesture is becoming the property of young soldiers of every race who accept their generation's devotion to peace, brotherhood and the power of people.

Says one, Pfc. David Gates: "It's got nothing to do with color any more. I'm black but if I give the soul salute to a white, he'll return it. And whites give it to each other now, just like blacks do. Man, it's whittycallit — completely interracial."

Whatever it's called, there are many in the service here who still are opposed to it. Veterans for the most part. They fear the clenched fist sign is "disobedient," even "treasonous," and, moreover, "just ain't good military."

Some sergeants and officers still refuse to allow the fist salute in their units. Legally, they can't stop it, since the armed forces have more or less accepted the gesture as harmless. "But," says a 1st Infantry Division platoon leader, "if I catch anybody pulling that, I'm just liable to hustle his little rear right out into the field."

This attitude, to be sure, is deplored by followers of the clenched fist greeting. They say it's just another good reason why the soul salute is appealing to young troops.

Explains David Gates: "None of these old 'lifers' (career servicemen) can dig it. That's because their minds are too warped. Man. They still figure every black man with a beard is not to be trusted after dark — and every white man with this black man is a hippie. So they see something like the clenched fist come along and right away they blast it. They don't think about it, or talk about it; they just don't like it."

And he adds: "The salute's for the young. The old is too old. Only one guy in a thousand over 30 will ever give you the fist. None of the rest, right up to generals, can understand."

Understanding the soul salute is indeed somewhat difficult — even for the people who believe in it.

Some soldiers, like Gates, think it "just means we all know where it's at." Some others think it signifies a resentment of everything from Vietnam to valor. And still others, mostly black, cling to the notion that the "pound," as they call it, is a warning to the white world.

So, when the soul salute is given here, nobody except acquaintances knows exactly what the other guy's thinking. Yet, even with this diversity of meaning, GIs say the soul salute has enough universal understanding — "kind of a misery-loves-company thing" — to be of personal value.

And, therefore, the salute continues to spread, throughout the war zone, for one reason or another, giving some additional small distraction for 500,000 GIs and perhaps, even some small hope that what many here take to be a gesture of world partnership will grow to ultimate dreams.

"Lemme tell ya," says David Gates. "Some day, maybe I'll be out in the brush and see old Charley (the enemy). And he'll give me the fist. And baby, I'll know when the war is over."

The Gallup Poll 77 Per Cent Favor Nixon View

PRINCETON, — President Nixon won a vote of confidence from 77 per cent of Americans on his Vietnam policies among those persons who listened to his speech Monday night.

Only 6 per cent expressed outright opposition to the President's program for ending the Vietnam war, but 17 per cent were undecided.

While the initial reaction to the President's program was highly favorable, the course of public opinion in the coming weeks is likely to depend largely on the actual rate of withdrawal of United States troops.

In a test of the nation's first reactions to the speech, a series of questions were put to a total of 501 adults living in 286 localities in a nationwide telephone survey. The study was conducted last night immediately following the speech.

Approximately 7 persons in 10 were found to have heard the speech. Among this group, 77 per cent were impressed and reassured by Mr. Nixon's remarks. But at the same time, a sizeable minority expressed disappointment that the President had not come up with new ideas to end the war.

The predominant view at this point was that the President was pursuing the only course open to him. The idea of "Vietnamization" of the war — turning the fighting over to the South Vietnamese — has particular appeal to the public.

Nearly half those interviewed or 49 per cent, said they thought Mr. Nixon's proposals were likely to bring about a settlement of the war. Twenty-five per cent said they were not likely to do so and 26 per cent were found to be undecided.

cent — of those interviewed expressed satisfaction with Mr. Nixon's program for troop withdrawal, 13 per cent expressed dissatisfaction, while 10 per cent were undecided.

By a 6-to-1 ratio, those interviewed agreed with Mr. Nixon that public demonstrations were harmful to the attainment of peace in Vietnam, but most also shared the President's belief that people in this country had a right to make their voices heard.

The Vietnam War
Editor, The Freeman:

After reviewing a book by a famous lady of another generation, James Burnham was moved to remark that, "Over whatever subject, problem, plan or issue . . . touches, she spreads a squid-like ink of directionless feeling. All distinctions are blurred, all analysis fouled, and in that murky clear thought is forever impossible." After reading Mrs. Day's latest ukase, I fully realize how Mr. Burnham must have felt. Nevertheless, v must not give up, so here goes.

One: Mrs. Day states that North Viet Nam "freely permitted" 900,000 anti-Communists to leave North Viet Nam for the South: If she finds this laudable, she must have been enraptured with Hitler for allowing refugees, penniless as were the North Viet Namers, to leave Germany prior to 1940. If anyone is interested in an on the spot report of this Viet Nam exodus, I recommend Gertrude Samuels' article in the June '53 issue of National Geographic.

Two: Mrs. Day refers to Nguyen Cao Ky as a traitor "who fought with the French against his own people." The following facts were gleaned from Current Biography of December 1966. Nguyen Cao Ky was born in 1930; he entered Nam Dinh Reserve Officers' School, a French military academy, in 1948 and graduated in 1952; he then went to Marrakech Aviation School, located in French Morocco, and after completing his training in 1953 he transferred to Avord Aviation School in France, where he trained until September 1954; he returned to Viet Nam in December 1954, six months after the division of Viet Nam into North and South. To conclude from these facts that Ky "fought" against his own people is taking extreme liberty with the truth.

Three: Mrs. Day remarked in her letter that we are not fighting Communism in Viet Nam. But in the same paragraph she stated that Russia is the "foremost communist nation in the world." Why then is Russia supplying approximately 75% of the military material that North Viet Nam needs to pursue its bellicose aims? It should also be kept in mind that these arms are from the same arsenal that enables Nasser to exercise his war of attrition against beleaguered Israel.

Four: It's disappointing to find Mrs. Day resorting to calumny in argumentation. Vidkun Quisling was a notorious opportunist who strove all his adult life to advance the Fascist cause. He actively collaborated with the Nazis during their occupation of Norway and met his death before a firing squad in 1945. Can you envision for one moment, Ho Chi Minh, who was guilty of the deaths of thousands of innocent people, allowing 900,000 traitors to leave the country scot-free?

Name calling has never been a suitable substitute for facts. I witnessed the evacuation of Seoul in 1950 and again in 1951. I saw terror-stricken multitudes of innocent men, women and children fleeing before the Communist military machine from the North. I'll never forget the expressions of fear and panic on the faces of these simple people. I was not in Viet Nam, but if reliable sources such as Marguerite Higgins are to be believed (see Our Viet Nam Nightmare), these refugees from North Viet Nam were innocent victims of a ruthless ideology and labeling them "Quislings" only compounds their misery.

Very truly yours,
EUGENE LOUGHLIN

Expect Volcanic Activity From Peak at Mt. Rainier

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPD)—Officials the only question is when and what form the activity will take. He said the last recorded volcanic activity on Mt. Rainier, which at 14,410 feet is the fifth highest mountain in the contiguous United States, occurred in the 1890s, but caused little damage. However, Crandell said his studies show large areas have been inundated by mud flows and floods in the last 10,800 years because of volcanic activity. He said whatever the next Geological Survey in Tacoma, the traditional told the group some glaciers on the mountain have experienced unusual melting, crumbling and heat involved could produce hot spots in recent months. "We have never seen such very hazardous mud flows. He said park rangers at behavior south of Alaska on Longmire on the mountain nonvolcanic terrain," he said.

Queen Still Struggles on Million a Year

LONDON (UPD)—Queen Elizabeth has been making do with the same $1 million a year salary since she was crowned 17 years ago. Inflation has gotten so bad she has been forced to dip into her own money to pay the servants at Buckingham Palace. "My heart bleeds!" said William Hamilton, a Labor member of the House of Commons. "I cannot believe they (Parliament) would try to increase it. The government has enough trouble on its hands without looking for more." Elizabeth gets $440,000 a year from the British government for household salaries, $272,320 for household expenses, $228,000 for expenses of royal relatives and $144,000 for her own expenses. Social Pressures Shift Teens on Smoking Habit

NEW YORK (AP)—Teen-agers in general think cigarettes are dangerous, but social pressures push four out of 10 into smoking them, a new study finds. The teen years are crucial in the decision whether to smoke, the survey says. The greatest influence toward smoking is their friends, but many youngsters might choose not to smoke if parents, teachers, doctors and other adults set better examples, it adds. The national survey of 1,562 teen-agers found that 65 per cent of smokers and 86 per cent of nonsmokers believe cigarettes cause lung cancer. About half the smokers and 70 per cent of nonsmokers think it is "definitely or probably true" that cigarette smoking triples the risk of premature heart attack. Young smokers said they did so because it "makes you feel like a big shot... makes you look older... makes you feel like one of the crowd," or that smoking relaxed them when they felt nervous, or helped when they were bored or depressed. Far more boys than girls thought smoking made them more attractive sexually. The study conducted by Lieberman Research, Inc., last March and April was sponsored by the American Cancer Society with the findings released today at the society's annual meeting. Each teen-ager was interviewed for about an hour. One third were 13 or 14 years old, another third 15 or 16, the rest 17 or 18. Teen-agers are 50 per cent more likely to smoke if the adults, parents, teachers and others with whom they come in contact are smokers, but are almost 100 per cent more likely to smoke if their friends, brothers and sisters smoke, the study finds. The youngsters are very much aware of cigarette commercials, and the antismoking messages being broadcast or printed, but see far more of the commercials for cigarettes, the survey says.

Blue Mountain School Open House Slated

Starting November 10 the staff and students of the Grand D. Morse School are planning American Education Week activities in conjunction with this year's theme, Better Education—Your Job.

Parents are being extended written invitations by Principal Patrick Buonfiglio to visit classrooms any day during the week except Tuesday, Nov. 11, when schools will be closed in observance of Veterans' Day.

Thursday, Nov. 13, a special evening program is to be held starting at 7:30 p.m. Those planning to attend will first meet in the cafeteria where Buonfiglio will introduce the staff and the PTA officers for the year. Afterwards, all teachers will be available in their rooms to discuss their individual programs, to demonstrate books, materials, and machines used in instruction and to suggest ways in which parents can help to make the current year a successful one.

Following this portion of the program, all will have the opportunity to examine exhibits arranged in the areas of art, music, physical education, health and library. Also, a refreshment committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Roy Wood, is arranging for a social hour.

Other American Education Week activities at the Morse School will include participation in the hot lunch program and in the weekly assembly program. Anyone wishing to take part in the school's hot lunch program can do so either November 12 or November 13, 1:15-1:45. Reservation forms are being made available through the students.

On Thursday morning the public is invited to attend the assembly program which will be presented at 9 a.m. by the sixth grade homeroom of Mrs. Marjorie King.

Visitors to the Morse School will be assisted by student guides who will also be reminding them to sign the guest books when they arrive and reaction sheets when they leave.

Hearing Slated On Town Budget

SAUGERTIES A public hearing of the Town of Saugerties preliminary budget of $421,924 will be held Thursday 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Higher appropriations in planning, recreation, sanitation, fringe benefits for employees and highway expenditures reflects in a moderate increase in the proposed budget.

Under the general fund covering cost of town government operation a sum of $73,404 must be raised by taxation.

A total of $46,941 must be raised by taxation to cover increases in the Highway Department's budget.

Judge Richter Guest Speaker

KINGSTON Governor Leonard Thronburg of Kingston Moose Lodge No. 970, has announced that Judge Hubert A. Richter will be the featured speaker at the baseball banquet to be held at the lodge quarters, on Saturday, November 8, starting at 8 p.m.

The banquet is being held to honor the Moose All-Star players and the Little League players that participated in team play this past season. Awards will be given to all the boys and committee chairman John Perpetua announces that the dinner is open to all Lodge members and their guests.

No tickets are required, but those boys wishing to attend are urged to contact Mr. Thronburg or Mr. Perpetua at the Moose Lodge, 82 Prince Street. Pilgrim Anthony Arena will serve as the master of ceremonies.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Education Week Activities

SAUGERTIES American Education Week will be observed in the Main Street School from Nov. 10 to 14. The national theme this year is "Education . . . Your Job." At the Main Street School the theme is expanded to "Education . . . Your Job and Our Job—Their Future." Parents are cordially invited to visit their child's classroom any day during education week.

Special emphasis is being placed on the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m. when parents with their children are urged to visit the school. It is most appropriate that children should bring parents to school and introduce parents to the teacher or teachers. In this type of visitation parents will have opportunity to tour the building, meeting all of the teachers who work with a particular child and also to see the excellent new library resource center where various kinds of instructional aids are located. In addition to the library, parents should visit the new health facility, the art room and the gymnasium.

To conclude the tour of the building, parents and children are requested to stop at the cafeteria where refreshments will be provided through courtesy of the Parent-Teacher Association. The membership committee of the PTA will be looking for all parents to stop by and fill out their membership cards. All teachers will be looking forward to meeting parents and children.

Glascos School will have "Open House" on Monday, Nov. 10, from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Parents will have the opportunity to meet with their children's teachers and to see the newly completed building with its expanded facilities.

Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Glascos School will be open for parent visitations during the week of Nov. 10, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A Type A school lunch will be served to those parents requesting it, at a cost of 45 cents. An "Open House" on Tuesday, Nov. 18, will be held beginning at 7:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. to inspect work on display.

At 8 p.m. a slide presentation entitled "Your Child at Work" will be shown in the auditorium. Refreshments will be served following the presentation.

Auxiliary Plans Yule Packages For Viet Vets

SAUGERTIES Washington Hook & Ladder Auxiliary has started collecting articles and money to send Christmas packages to servicemen in Vietnam.

These may be deposited with Mrs. Philip Breithaupt, 124 West Bridge Street, or brought to the Thursday meeting at 7:30 p.m. to be held in the company rooms.

President Joan Arnold has named Mary Cook and Clara Dawson to the Refreshment Committee.

The annual Christmas party of the auxiliary will be held on a date in December at Harps Inn. Peggy Wade and Gladys Amend are co-chairmen.

Participation Asked In Program of VFW

SAUGERTIES Commander Carrotti also stated that Raymond A. Gallagher, VFW commander-in-chief is calling on all other national organizations to join the VFW in Operation Speak Out, a program designed to encourage the silent majority to show its support of the government on the Vietnam question during the week of Nov. 9 to 15 which includes Veterans Day.

Speaking on behalf of Post 5034, Commander Angelo Carrotti said: "Vietnam Moratorium Day last October 15 has given the world and especially Hanoi a distorted view of the true feelings of the majority of the people in this country. It is the belief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars that the majority of the people in this country do support our men in Vietnam and the position of our government."

"It seems tragic that there are those in this country who support the position of Hanoi while American servicemen are daily being killed by troops of Communist North Vietnam and the Viet Cong. It is time that the silent majority let its will be known publicly."

"For this program to be effective and reflective of the community mind, it is my hope that all other civic, fraternal, patriotic, labor, religious and other organizations here will join with us and make this a true community effort."

Bidding Begins On New Complex In Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK Bidding for four contracts on the $350,000 village hall-firehouse complex was held Wednesday evening at the village offices, with no immediate commitments.

There were six bids on general construction, four on electrical work, two on heating and ventilation, and one on plumbing.

It is anticipated that the East Market Street complex construction will get under way before winter weather halts operations.

Screening Nov. 15 For Eye Disease In Area Infants

SAUGERTIES Saugerties Jaycees and the Better Vision Institute launched an all-out campaign to detect amblyopia, a leading cause of partial blindness in children.

Arlene Childers and Joan Figgs, project chairmen for the Saugerties Jaycees indicated today this little-known condition threatens the sight of one in every 20 American children.

The free screening is slated for Nov. 15 from 10 to 12 and 1 to 3 o'clock in Roger Donlon Auditorium, Partition Street, and will be conducted by trained Jaycees under the supervision of the Ulster County Health Department.

The co-chairmen said, "In recent years, we have learned that amblyopia is mainly preventable, but tragically, because so few parents are aware of the danger, we are still finding only a small fraction of these children in time to safeguard their vision."

It is for this reason, that the Saugerties Jaycees and the Better Vision Institute have begun an extensive campaign to screen for signs of amblyopia in this area's children between the ages of three and six years.

W. Sheldon Gladstone, president of the Better Vision Institute indicated that each year at least 100,000 American children are passing the point at which they can be rescued from amblyopia. Gladstone reiterated the local concern and urgent call for the parents of Saugerties to help in this vital health effort by bringing their small children for screening during the testing program.

There is no charge for the screening.

Open House Saturday At Rondout Gardens

KINGSTON — An opportunity for the citizens of Kingston to inspect a number of apartments designed for large families will be possible during the open house at Rondout Gardens Saturday according to a statement issued by George E. Yerry Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority. Yerry said that arrangements have been made to have apartments 95 M and 96 M open for inspection Saturday between 11 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. The apartments are located midway between the Meadow Street entrance and Maple Street. Last year the public was invited to inspect the Senior Citizen Apartment portion of Rondout Gardens and this Saturday they will have the opportunity to see a three bedroom and four bedroom apartment.

Alexander Yosman, executive director of the Authority urged all residents of the city to take this opportunity to inspect the apartments and the grounds. Special attention should be given to the layout of the entire project in view of the difficulties encountered during construction with the steep terrain of the area. Rondout Gardens was constructed at a cost of $2,400,000.00 and consists of 131 apartments. Sixty two of these are designed for senior citizens.

Near Collisions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An air controller representative says an average of 50 near collisions are being reported every day by planes flying in the congested Boston-New York-Washington corridor. Stanley Lyman, vice president of the National Association of Government Employees, a union which represents about 3,000 controllers, gave the report to the National Transportation Safety Board Wednesday. The board is holding hearings on how to keep airplanes safely away from each other.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened mixed today in moderate turnover.

Although the news budget was without particular feature, belief among investors that President Nixon is committed to the eventual withdrawal of all U.S. combat troops from Vietnam still was a potentially bullish factor. South Vietnam's Vice President, Nguyen Cao Ky, noted that it is his country's aim to take over the war by the end of next year.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator was up 0.04 per cent on 394 issues traded. Declines edged advances, 136 to 134.

Goodyear eased 1/4 to 31, while American Telephone lost 1/4 to 51. Johns Manville picked up 1/4 to 34 3/4. Pittston Co. 3/4 at 70 1/2. Gimbel Bros. traded a block of 18,200 shares at 43 1/2, unchanged, and International Telephone 12,000 shares at 58 1/2 up 1/4.

In the oil group, Gulf was unchanged at 33, Atlantic Richfield up 1/4 at 101 1/4. Occidental steady at 25 1/2, and Standard at 58. Natomas held unchanged at 63 1/2. Shell rose 1/4 to 52 1/2.

Long Distance Phone Rates Will Be Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American consumer, beset with rising costs and a shrinking dollar, is getting some welcome relief from old "Ma Bell."

As a result of negotiations with the government, American Telephone and Telegraph will cut its interstate long distance rates by a record $150 million starting next year. AT&T is parent company of the Bell Telephone system.

This reduction, coupled with another $87 million slash scheduled to go into effect Feb. 1, means a total savings in 1970 of $237 million on phone calls across state lines.

In making the rate trimming announcement Wednesday, the Federal Communications Commission said the cuts reflect an increasing AT&T profit coupled with growing long distance phone use.

AT&T said details of the cuts will be made known in the near future. But the $150 million reduction could mean about a 3 per cent drop in the average phone bill for interstate calls.

The FCC said the $150 million reduction follows from a recently completed review of the phone company's financial status, made by the commission. Bell officials and outside experts.

The $87 million savings offsets an identical increase in rates granted AT&T for users of such large commercial facilities as Telpak and Teletypewriter exchange—TWX.

Pilot Uninjured

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A light plane clipped treetops and crashed on a runway while landing at Albany Airport Wednesday. Police said Willford Anderson of Minneapolis, Minn., pilot of the craft, was not injured. He was alone in the plane.

Flying had been hampered by blustery weather. Anderson was reportedly en route from Minneapolis to Boston, Mass.

When Not to Borrow From Life Insurance

Q—Should I leave a paid up life insurance policy with the company or take the cash value and buy stocks?—M.G. Should we borrow our insurance loan value and refinance our house to invest in stocks, bonds or mutual funds?—J.M. Should I take the cash out of a year retirement annuity contract (with two more years to pay) and invest in a mutual fund with a monthly withdrawal plan?—W.S.

A—On paper such plans may appear reasonable. In reality, though the planner is substituting unpredictable returns for absolutely proved guarantees based upon actuarial exactitude, I don't say it's impossible to win substantially from a shift of earnings reserves, but knowing market fluctuations as I do, I believe some sleepless nights could be in store for anyone who risks all his savings in the securities market.

My answer to any reader tempted to borrow on his insurance policy to take advantage of an oversold market is to leave those insurance contracts in the strongbox. Only if an emergency strikes suddenly should their cash values be used temporarily and repaid promptly. A mutual fund withdrawal plan has certain advantages, but the guaranteed monthly income from an annuity continues even if the annuitant outlives his original investment.

Q—I own some National Dairy stock. It has not appeared on the New York Stock Exchange listings for some time. Recently I received a dividend check from Kraft Co. Could you tell me what changes have taken place?—M.N.

A—The change was in name only. In recognition of its internationally known brand name, National Dairy holders voted to adopt it as its new title. Foreign operations, conducted through the Kraft

Soap Box Derby Set in Paltz On Saturday

NEW PALTZ

The United Greek Council at the State University College at New Paltz, in cooperation with the community chest, is sponsoring the first annual soap box derby to be held here Saturday at 10 a.m.

The event will be conducted on Hasbrouck Avenue, adjacent to the Campus School.

According to officials there will be two divisions—an individual scooter race and a group soap box event—and cash prizes will be awarded to the winners in each division.

STUDENT DRIVER

It isn't Math, History or English. But it's just as basic.

To earn a living, he needs the old fundamentals. To keep on living, he must learn the right way to drive. Yet only one out of three high school students takes a driver education course. Too bad. Automobile accidents are the number one killer of American teenagers.

How important is driver education? Well, it's important enough that trained drivers have 50% fewer accidents and traffic violations. Important enough that many insurance companies offer lower rates for teenagers who have completed driver training.

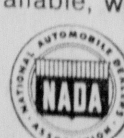

And important enough that new car dealers across the nation loan 34,000 automobiles every year to our public schools for driver training.

It's your responsibility to help make sure your teenager takes the proper subjects in school. So make sure driver education is one of them. Where it's not available, we suggest that you consider a good private driving school.

When it comes to preparation for living, learning how to drive safely really is basic.

Apollo 12 Plans Landing On Moon's Ocean of Storms

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Apollo 12 will land on the eastern edge of the moon's Ocean of Storms.

The robot craft Surveyor 3 landed there on April 20, 1967, and beamed back pictures that showed the area was appropriate for man's descent.

The site is 954 miles west of Apollo 11's Tranquility Base, and the relatively flat topography is generally the same. Both sites are on vast seas that blanket much of the moon's earth-facing hemisphere.

To astronauts Charles H. Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean, however, the terrain will appear slightly rough, with more of a rolling appearance because of larger and more rounded craters.

"The horizon will be rougher than it was at Tranquility Base simply because the craters are going to be bigger," said Dr. John W. Dietrich, a geologist at the Houston Space Center. "We'll be getting rims several feet above the general terrain surface so we'll have low hills."

The Apollo 12 site also is believed to be covered by rays—streaks of debris that extend like spokes in a wheel hundreds of miles from large craters gouged out by meteoroid impacts. One of the rays seems to have come from the giant crater Copernicus more than 20 miles to the north.

Scientists hope the astronauts will pick up some of this ray material because, if it can be identified as such, it might show the composition of rocks from the unexplored lunar highlands.

Surveyor 3 is still perched on the sloping inside wall of a crater 650 feet wide and 50 feet deep. Apollo's bullseye is 1,120 feet away.

On the maps, the landing site is located at 2 degrees 24 minutes south of the lunar equator and 23 degrees 18 minutes west of the north-south center line on the moon's face.

COMPANIONS—This five foot alligator and a small but brave egret maintain residence in a small lake just blocks from downtown Tampa. Neighborhood children tell the gator was first noticed about six months ago and the bird about two months ago. Possession of their home can hardly be disputed. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Fall Cleanup In Ellenville

ELLENVILLE — The annual fall cleanup has started according to Ellenville Mayor Robert Dowling.

Dangerous Vanity

LONDON (AP) — Woman's vanity may be adding to Britain's road casualties.

A junior transport minister says many of them refuse to wear seat belts because they fear that cocktail dresses and other garments will be creased.

The cleanup campaign will continue today and Nov. 7, 10, 12, 13 and 14.

The mayor urges that residents of the village avoid placing stones, wood, metal or other heavy objects into piles of leaves, as this material could cause damage to the leaf vacuum.

In an accompanying announcement, Mayor Dowling noted that the ban on all-night parking in the village will go into effect on Nov. 15 by order of the Ellenville Police Department.

JOHN M. ROBBINS

Officer Slate Named by TB and RD Association

KINGSTON John M. Robbins of Saugerties has been elected president of the Catskill Region Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, according to a recent report of the group.

Named as a president emeritus of the newly combined three county agency is Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr. of Kingston.

Other officers elected include: Mrs. Arthur Gustavson of Coxsackie as first vice-president; Mrs. Steven N. Stetka of Coxsackie as second vice-president; Mrs. C. Fredric Heider of Gardiner as secretary and Miss Rose Marie Feeney of Kingston as treasurer.

Elected to serve with the officers are: Fred J. DuBois of New Paltz, Dr. Stanley A. Kornblum of Monticello, Mrs. John Ormerod Jr. of Catskill, William A. Porter of Port Jervis, Mrs. Alan F. Ruf of Catskill, William J. Ryan of Kingston, Dr. Edward F. Shea of Monticello, Miss Katherine T. Terwilliger of Ellenville, Dr. Barbara Vosburgh of Coxsackie and Mrs. George Winkelstein of Kenosha Lake.

Robbins, who also was Greene, Sullivan and Ulster Counties which developed and established the new Catskill Region Association, and served as its president, 1968-69. She also was a member of the Regional Steering Committee, serving as its secretary.

Mrs. Gustavson, a native of the Greene County and a graduate of Cairo High School and the Estman Dental Dispensary for Dental Hygienists (Rochester, N.Y.), has been active as a registered licensed dental hygienist at Catskill. She is a past president of the former Greene County Health (TB) Association and New York, serving as its board and superintendent of Monroe County Hospital, Stroudsburg, Pa., since 1929-1930.

Mrs. Stetka, formerly a TB Hospital and clinic nurse, and Miss Feeney, Association for 27 years a school nurse treasurer, is medical worker of teacher, was an active officer the Ulster County Department and director of the former Sulgraduate of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing and studied at Cornell University and the University of Michigan, and as a registered nurse previously served with the Child Welfare Service for two years. A key member of the board of directors of the former Ulster County TB and Health Association, she served on its executive committee and was active in areas of personnel and administration, budget and by laws.

The Catskill Region Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association succeeds the former Ulster County TB Respiratory Disease groups in keeping with state and national regional consolidation patterns," President Robbins noted. "Major regional reorganization has been geared to producing greater efficiency in larger, comprehensive areas and to the updating and developing of TB and Respiratory Disease program to the current standards outlined by national evaluation study recently completed."

The new Catskill Region TB and RD Association, serving Greene, Sullivan and Ulster Counties, has maintained as its official TB RD Christmas Seal headquarters the former Ulster County Association building at 124 Green Street, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cook of Olivebridge held open house at their home Nov. 4 in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary. They were presented with a money tree sponsored by the Olivebridge M.E. Church, the IOOF and Olive Rebekah Lodges and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Vahan Kizirian returned home last week from their N. Y. Telephone Company sponsored tour to Mexico. While there they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Longyear Jr. During the evening Longyear and Kizirian attended the Masonic Lodge meeting where they met the Grand Master of Brazil, Longyear is presently serving as deputy grand master of Mexico. The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. is installing heavy duty electric cable to Camp

Hideaway located on West Shokan Heights Road.

Mrs. Ethel Gray of Olivebridge recently returned from a trip to Germany and the Scandinavian countries sponsored by the Masonic Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson of The Kykoit have left for their annual trip to Florida.

The IOOF Pinocchio Club of Shokan Lodge 491 recently held its annual roast beef dinner and tournament at the Cozy Corner in Olivebridge. Members participating included Alonzo Davis, Lester Lawrence, Percy Cook, Abe Davis, Edward Gille, Reginald Davis, Lester (Sonny) Davis, Frank Snyder, Oliver Crawford, Claude Shamback, Joseph Werner and Harlowe McLean.

West Shokan News

The Olive Democratic Club held an enthusiastic and largely attended rally and dance Saturday night at the Olivebridge firehouse.

Olive's veteran supervisor, Lester Davis was given a rising vote of thanks when introduced by chairman Walter Lang at the Olive GOP party held recently at the Olivebridge Fire Hall. All town candidates were present with Legislators Philip Davis and Ernest Gardner. Also present as speakers were William S. Keyser and John Naccarado of Kingston. Among the prize winners were Mrs. Catherine Hesley, Alex Adamia, Mrs. Bertha Shimer and Jennie Kerr.

Ralph McRoberts of Brodhead Road has returned home after three weeks as a patient in Benedictine Hospital. Also home from the hospital is Mrs. Della Lewis of Olivebridge, a former town clerk.

Community residents welcomed the 1½ inches of rain Sunday that drenched the dry woodlands and helped the streams.

The Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Willow entertained Sunday luncheon guests who included Mrs. Bertha Shimer and Miss Jennie Kerr.

Mr. and Mrs. George Van Kleeck of Samsonville Mountain Road and neighbors attended funeral services Monday afternoon in Endicott for Lester Van Kleeck, 53, who died suddenly. A World War II European veteran, he is survived by his wife and two children. Burial was in Endicott.

Mrs. Genevieve McLean and Mrs. Vera Sickler jetted to California for a three-week stay.

Fire Dispatching Plan Has Vols Approval

WOODSTOCK Complete satisfaction with the present fire dispatching system was expressed at the four-company meeting of Woodstock Fire Department held last week at the Town Hall.

Zena Vols Annual Supper

WOODSTOCK Arrangements for a supper were announced at the recent meeting of Woodstock Fire Department No. 4 held at Zena Firehouse. This year's annual covered dish supper will be held at the firehouse Saturday, Nov. 8 at 7 p.m. The dinner is held each year for the firemen and is sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary. Appropriate to the Halloween season, costumes will be optional.

Hit by Car, Dies

ELBRIDGE, N.Y. (UPI)—Leon J. Ballard, 67, of Jordan was killed Wednesday evening when he was struck by a car as he tried to cross Route 5. The Onondaga County medical examiner's office said it was the 85th county traffic fatality of the year so far.

The Nominating Committee for the annual elections was appointed and includes John Melert, Glen Diehm, and James Bruckert. The meeting was adjourned, after which films were shown on First Aid and Flammable Liquids.

A lengthy discussion was held concerning the possibility of combining the fire system with election in December, was one for the local constable force, which is apparently under consideration by town officials.

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson reported a total of 65 fire and emergency calls logged so far this year for the entire department, but expressed dissatisfaction with the Underwriter's report on the fire department as being incomplete. He spoke of the fire prevention program at the local school, reported the new emergency truck now in service and the receipt of additional electron alarm systems. The new pumper apparatus for Woodstock Co. No. 4 at Zena, was reported "nearly ready for delivery."

A request for a 16mm movie projector for use of the entire department was to be forwarded to the Board of Fire Commissioners.

A nominating list of line officers for the department, with election in December, was headed by Duncan Wilson as fire chief, William Harder as first assistant chief, Alfred Osterlander as second assistant chief, and Robert Smith as chief mechanic.

The possibility of Woodstock becoming the scene of a county fire convention was referred to a committee of Robert Rifenburg, George Eichler, and Roger Goodrich. Woodstock had not been host to a county convention in almost 20 years, it was reported.

Fire hydrants in the village system were in the process of being painted — with the green top indicating pressure in excess of 50 lbs., and the red tops reported to be of low pressure. The next four-company meeting will be held in Lake Hill on Monday, Jan. 26, with Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 as host.

Lake Hill Auxiliary Lists Yule Party Plans

LAKE HILL The recently sponsored family supper and Halloween party, held at the firehouse, was reported to the meeting as a very successful event.

Plans to conduct the annual Christmas party on Saturday, Dec. 13, at the firehouse in Lake Hill were finalized at this week's meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3.

The party scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m., will feature a visit from Santa Claus, and will be given for all children under the age of 12 years residing in the communities serviced by the fire company. Mrs. Cornelius McClary and Mary Grehl will be in charge of arrangements for the auxiliary.

The meeting also marked the sponsorship of two Girl Scout troops by the auxiliary — a Brownie and a Cadet troop. Mrs. Eugene Howland is the representative of the auxiliary to the Girl Scout program.

Tuesday, Nov. 25, is the next scheduled meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary, at 8 p.m. at the firehouse. Ladies of the communities of Willow, Lake Hill, or Shady, are invited to affiliate with the organization and attend the November meeting.

Day of Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress has completed action on a joint resolution declaring next Sunday as a national day of prayer for American servicemen held prisoner in North Vietnam. The House adopted the resolution Oct. 14.

EDUCATION WEEK — Woodstock Town Supervisor Milton Hout (seated) signs proclamation designating Nov. 9 to 15 American Education Week in Woodstock. John W. Cooper, principal of Woodstock Elementary School is at left. In conjunction with the event special visitation days have been scheduled. (L. Busciglio photo).

UCCC Seeking Response To Proposed Courses

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College is desirous in learning whether there is any community interest in three non-credit courses contemplated as continuing education offerings in clock repair, toy repair and home maintenance and repair, Ronald A. Koster, the Director of Continuing Education, announced today.

"We follow the policy of offering continuing education courses that are responsive to the needs of people in the community," said Koster, "and for that reason we are anxious to learn what interest residents might have in any of these unique repair courses."

The object of the clock repair course would be to offer basic knowledge about clock movements and their repair. It would deal with cleaning, adjusting, escapement repair and timing of pendulum type clocks and cleaning, various repairs, adjustment and timing of balance wheel type clocks.

The toy repair course would have the objective of teaching interested persons how to repair discarded toys and cut down on toy expenses for children. Covered in the course would be the repair of bicycles, dolls, spring-operated toys, flywheel-operated toys, battery-operated toys, racers and AC-operated toys.

The home maintenance and repair course would have the objective of teaching people to repair and maintain furnishings and equipment in the home.

Exterior subjects covered would be repairs and maintenance for roofs, chimneys, siding, doors, windows, septic tanks, and driveways. Indoor items would be repair and maintenance for windows, walls, electrical switches, ovens, heating units, washers, fans, air conditioners, dehumidifiers, floors, furniture, television sets and lights.

Persons interested in any of these courses may call the office of continuing education at the college.

Dividends Listed by Stock Fund

Philip DeGrandis, sales manager for the Hudson Valley Divisional office has announced Investors Stock Fund, Inc., has declared a fourth-quarter income dividend of 12 1/4 cents per share and a year-end capital gains distribution of 88 cents a share.

Payments were scheduled to be made Oct. 31 to shareholders of record Oct. 30.

The income dividend amounts to approximately $13,437,000 and is the 97th dividend paid by the company. The 1968 fourth quarter income dividend amounted to $13,970,000, or 14 1/2 cents per share.

The capital gains distribution amounts to $96,325,000, compared to $108,886,000, or $1.10 per share, paid at the 1968 fiscal year-end of Investors Stock Fund.

Capital gains are derived from realized security profits, whereas income dividends are derived from dividends and interest earned.

Total income dividends for the year come to 49 1/2 cents per share, compared to 56 1/4 cents per share in 1968. Total dollar figures are $51,706,000 for fiscal 1969 and $55,540,000 for fiscal 1968.

Investors Stock Fund, one of the six mutual fund companies for which Investors Diversified Services provides investment advisory and distribution services, has assets of more than $2.3 billion and 372,000 shareholder accounts. There are 109,687,000 shares outstanding.

New Service For Customers

A new customer service has been announced by Mountain Airways on Route 9W, Port Ewen, which is known as interstate patient transport service conducted in cooperation with Pan American Airlines.

Frank Bloom, president of Mountain Airways, said the airline now has capabilities for carrying passengers who are confined to stretchers, and who are accompanied by a medical attendant, to various destinations in the United States.

This special charter service has recently carried patients arriving at Kennedy Airport in New York City from South Africa and Zurich, Switzerland, to their homes in Memphis, Tenn., and Newport News, Va. Mountain Airways also maintains three daily flights between Kingston and Kennedy Airport and return, with flights scheduled at 7 a.m., 1:20 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Krom, Numssen Win Bronze Star in Vietnam

Four local Army men have been decorated for service in Vietnam.

Thomas Krom, son of Mrs. Ethel Krom of 192 Lucas Avenue, won the Bronze Star Medal as did Sgt. Otto Numssen, son of Mrs. Mathilda Dochtermann of Rt. 2, Saugerties.

Army Sp. 4 George Rider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin H. Rider of Rt. 2, Accord, was awarded the Army Commendation Medal while serving with the First Infantry Division near Lai Khe, Vietnam.

Private First Class Kenneth Hornbeck, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hornbeck of Highland, received the Air Medal and the Purple Heart.

Specialist Krom had previously won the Army Commendation Medal for "meritorious achievement while surmounting extremely adverse conditions in the performance of his duties."

He is a 1965 graduate of Kingston High School and attended Ulster County Community College.

Krom, a communications specialist with the 82nd Airborne Division, trained at Army Communications School at Fort Gordon, Ga. He will complete his tour of duty in Vietnam on Nov. 28.

Specialist Rider, a 1966 graduate of Rondout Valley Central High School, was cited for meritorious service as a combat engineer with the First Infantry Division.

He entered the Army in May of last year and took basic training at Fort Dix, N.J. He also holds the Purple Heart Medal.

Sgt. Numssen received the Bronze Star for heroism in action while engaged in military operations against a hostile force in Vietnam.

He is a member of Troop E of the Americal Division's 1st Cavalry. He entered the Army in December 1967, received basic training at Ft. Dix, N. J., and was stationed at Ft. Gordon, Ga., before arriving overseas in November 1968. He holds the Purple Heart.

The sergeant's wife, Frances, lives in Windham, Conn. Pfc. Hornbeck received the Air Medal for meritorious achievement while engaged in aerial flight in connection with ground operations against a hostile force in Vietnam.

A rifleman in Company D, 1st Battalion, 501st Infantry, 101st Airborne Division (Airmobile), he entered the Army in December 1968, completed basic training at Ft. Dix, N.J., and arrived overseas last May. Before entering the Army he was employed by Empire Market in Poughkeepsie.

Hurley Fire District Seeks Day Help

PARTNERSHIP — George S. Dillon was named this week as national campaign chairman for the March of Dimes. President and chief executive officer of Air Reduction Co., Inc., Dillon is also a trustee of Syracuse University and Dry Dock Savings Bank of New York and has several other affiliations. Dillon will spearhead the efforts of the more than one million volunteers in the March of Dimes annual Birth Defects Fund Raising Drive this January. Dillon (L) gets a briefing on current research in birth defects from Dr. Myron Winick, director of Birth Defects Center at New York Hospital.

HURLEY has always been a problem, the situation has become more severe in the past few years. In order to help to alleviate the problem, the women of the Ladies Auxiliary have been trained to serve as radio dispatchers. While it is always possible to call for assistance through the Ulster County Mutual Aid Plan, such assistance may arrive too late to prevent a disaster. "Early response to a fire call is essential if we are to protect life and property," Chief Kenneth Cudney said. The problem faced in Hurley is not unique to this area but is one that is being encountered throughout the United States as large suburban areas develop where the men of the community are employed outside of the area. Local industries are co-operating by releasing men, upon request, to respond to emergencies but again, the time delay encountered in getting these men to the scene of the disaster could contribute to unnecessary property loss, if not loss of life, Cudney added. The Hurley Fire Department prides itself on the protection it has provided to the residents of the district in the past. In order to continue to provide such protection, the Department seeks the assistance of any able-bodied men in the community who are at home during the daytime hours, primarily between eight in the morning and five in the afternoon. Chief Cudney urges any men who fall in this category to consider joining the Hurley Fire Department and making their services available to the community. All volunteers will receive extensive training in fire fighting and equipment operation at their convenience. In order to give male residents of the district a chance to meet the officers of the Hurley Department and to discuss the problem or to have questions answered, officers and firemen will be on duty at the station Saturday between the hours of 1 and 3 p.m. "Your volunteer fire department is composed of men like yourself who volunteer their services to provide an essential service to the community," said Chief Cudney. "Please volunteer your help, especially if you can assist during the daytime hours," he concludes.

Objectives of BOCES Explained

NEW PALTZ and Louis Cordone presented Assemblyman H. Clark Bell worksheets which indicated recently visited at the BOCES Educational Center at New Paltz.

On the invitation of Dr. Jack L. Roosa, BOCES Executive Officer and District Superintendent, Bell met with BOCES staff and toured the facilities. An explanation of the objectives of the Ulster County BOCES and the present operations by BOCES personnel were outlined.

In addition to the explanation of BOCES programs the State Aid Laws (chapter 183 of the Laws of 1959) were discussed in detail by Assemblyman Bell and the BOCES staff. Dr. Roosa size correction will be discontinued for all districts; and the total aid paid to all BOCES in the State will be limited to a ten per cent increase.

The total effect of these new provisions of state aid to schools will be pronounced. They will add to the financial plight of local schools and necessitate tax

Rifton Drive Extended

Inclement weather interfered with the Rifton Volunteer Fire Company's current drive for funds, and officials have extended the campaign to Sunday, Nov. 9.

Volunteer firemen will make a house-to-house tour of the district starting at 1 p.m., and they urge residents to have their coin cards filled and ready for collection during the afternoon visitation.

Yearbook, 'Food for Us All,' Released By the U.S. Department of Agriculture

Which is the better buy—raw shrimp in the shell at $1.38 a pound, or cooked, peeled and cleaned shrimp at 69 cents for four ounces? Page 132.

How many cups of coffee does the average American drink a year? How much does this cost? Page 18.

What is the difference between "white meat" tuna and "light meat" tuna? Page 128.

How much of our take-home pay goes for food? How does this compare with 1950? Page 53.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture USDA asks these questions — and provides the answers — in their new yearbook, this year entitled "Food for Us All."

The 400-page book, released Tuesday, includes 46 articles by government and academic experts on subjects ranging from the economics of food production and marketing to build better eating habits, menu planning, dieting and "money stretching ideas to make our food dollar go further."

The USDA has been publishing yearbooks since 1849. Since 1936, the yearbook has treated one subject in depth, and recently the annuals have gone beyond purely agricultural matters into subjects of general interest.

Congress gets 232,250 copies for free distribution. Others can be purchased from the Government Printing Office, Washington, for $3.50.

Practical advice for food shoppers in the book ranges from a simple warning — "don't pinch the produce" — to a moderately complex table which a cautious consumer can use to determine if he is saving or losing money by buying sides of beef for home freezer storage.

It also points out that rising marketing costs — the middleman's share of the food dollar — have been responsible for most increases in grocery prices over the past decade — not the farmer. But it says profits of retail food chains have dropped a third during the 10 years and now are about one cent per sales dollars.

SAWYERKILL HOST Rim Matthews (L) gets a preview from Bea Bright and Gunther Meyer of the Mid-Hudson Madrigal Singers of the type of music that will be heard December 3rd at the Society's "Elizabethan Feast." An unusual fare of food and music will entertain some 130 guests at the affair. Featured will be a game dinner of suckling pig, roast duck, goose and beef. Diners will be serenaded by small ensembles of the Madrigal Singers prior to the post dinner concert. (Freeman photo by Haines).

BOOK FAIR AND LEARNING FESTIVAL, sponsored by St. Mary's Mothers' Society of Kingston, will be held Thursday and Friday, Nov. 13-14 in the school auditorium from 7:30 to 9 p. m. Completing plans for the event are seated (L-R) Sister Eileen Treanor, principal; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph McIntyre, moderator; Mrs. Leroy Sheffer, committee member; standing, Mrs. Bernard Redmond, chairman. The public is invited to attend. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Albright Twins Married in Double Wedding Ceremony

By JOAN L. WOJOSKI

What could be lovelier than a radiant bride on her wedding day? Answer: two radiant brides, particularly when they are pretty, identical twins, observing their 21st birthday on their wedding day, and wed within a colorful tableau comprised of a 28-member bridal party.

It was at St. Peter's Church in Rosendale on Saturday, Nov. 1 that the Misses Rosella and Rosalie Albright, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Albright of Stone Ridge, exchanged nuptial vows with Gordon Gray and Thomas Dane Beesimer, respectively. Mr. Gray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray of Accord and Mr. Beesimer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Beesimer of Kerhonkson.

The Rev. Robert D. Saccoman officiated at the wedding which was a "double" ceremony in several ways. Even the four white gold wedding rings were identical in styling. Organist Kathy Kelly accompanied Mrs. James Sweeney who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums and colored gladioli decorated the altar with white satin bows marking the family pews.

Given in marriage by their father, the brides wore identically styled gowns which featured Sabrina necklines and long tapered sleeves. The necklines were trimmed with sequins and imported seed pearls. The skirts featured tiers of scalloped lace accented with sequins and terminated in cathedral trains. Venice lace headpieces trimmed with pearls and crystals held their four tiered imported silk illusion veils. They carried cascade bouquets of white chrysanthemums, centered with white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Henry (Shirley) Jackson of West Hurley, sister of the brides, served as matron of honor for Rosella, and Pat Hoyt of Saugerties was honor attendant for Rosalie. They wore moss green A-line gowns of Karate, styled with velvet empire bodices and long sleeves. The gowns featured wattleau trains of a light green and light green skirts. Matching triple bows served as their headpieces and they carried cascade bouquets of blue spider chrysanthemums and green ribbons.

Mrs. Gray's attendants were Dolores Gray, Accord, sister of the bridegroom; Dorie Dubie, Lakehurst, N.J., cousin of the brides; Debra Countryman, Accord; and Cathy Fraiser, New Paltz. Mrs. Beesimer's attendants were Linda Beesimer, Kerhonkson, sister of the bridegroom; Patricia Buboltz, Kingston, cousin of the brides; Cathy Beesimer, Kerhonkson, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; and Doris Decker, Kerhonkson, sister of the bridegroom. They wore royal blue Karate gowns in the A-line styling with velvet empire bodices over light blue skirts which featured wattleau trains. Light blue triple bows served as their headpieces and they carried cascade bouquets of green spider chrysanthemums with blue ribbons.

Julie DeWitt of Accord was flower girl for Mrs. Gray and Debbie Malden, cousin of the brides, Lakehurst, N.J., was flower girl for Mrs. Beesimer. Their gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically to those of the honor attendants and they carried cascade bouquets of blue spider chrysanthemums accented with green ribbons.

John Albright Jr., brother of the brides, Stone Ridge, was best man for Gordon Gray and another brother, Steven Albright of Stone Ridge, served as best man for Thomas Beesimer.

Ushers for Mr. and Mrs. Gray were Vernon Atkins, Wayne Gundberg, Craig Barringer, all of Accord; and Gary Gray, cousin of the bridegroom. Kerhonkson. Edward Vitarius, nephew of the brides, West Hurley, was ringbearer.

Ushers for Mr. and Mrs. Beesimer were Henry Jackson Sr., brother-in-law of the brides, West Hurley; Roger Beesimer, brother of the bridegroom, Kerhonkson; Frank Piccoli, cousin of the brides, Slightsburg; and Richard Markle of Kerhonkson. John Beesimer, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

A reception for 175 guests was held at Capri '400' Restaurant in Port Ewen where one of the most spectacular twin wedding cakes ever concocted graced the wedding table.

The brides and bridegrooms are all graduates of Rondout Valley Central High School, both bridegrooms are employed at Carworth Inc., Stone Ridge. The brides are associated with the Albright family's Stone Ridge Boarding Home.

The brides are grandnieces of the late Capt. Edward H. (Yank) Albrecht, Kingston fireman for 50 years and well known for his humanitarian work in the area. Mr. Albrecht who retired from Kingston Paid Fire Department on his birthday, Dec. 31, 1958, passed away in April of this year.

Asked by a Freeman reporter if they ever played practical pranks on their fiancés because of their identical features, the brides answered, "No. We never had to confuse them deliberately because they can't tell us apart as it is." Which is not too unusual as the brides' father cannot distinguish them either.

Throughout their childhood the sisters have dressed alike, wearing the same size clothing, and were such complete carbon copies of each other it became necessary for teachers to separate them in class as even their school marks varied only one or two points.

Last April, two months before high school graduation, Mr. and Mrs. Albright announced the betrothals of their twin daughters in the Kingston Daily Freeman. The two sisters had anticipated being married someday in a double wedding ceremony from the time they were 12 years old and selected Saturday, Nov. 1 as the wedding date as it coincided with their 21st birthday, was a special Church Holiday, and is the month of their parents' wedding anniversary.

Both couples are currently arranging for the construction of their homes in Stone Ridge on property situated near the Albright homestead where the complete family will continue to reside in neighboring proximity.

One might say that this particular autumn wedding doubly personifies an ancient adage, for on November 1, 1969, Mr. and Mrs. Albright did not lose "a daughter," they gained two sons.

Jeromineks Demonstrate Serigraphy

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. (Jerry and Rosemary) Jerominek were guest artists at the Study Club of New Paltz meeting held Monday afternoon, Nov. 3, at the Joe Deyo Room in the New Paltz Savings Bank. After refreshments and a business meeting, Jerry Jerominek, an artist well known in Woodstock, Kingston and New Paltz, gave a demonstration of serigraphy, best known to the laymen as silk screen printing.

He explained the "ingredients", the basic process and techniques of the art, then proceeded to print a one-color, brush-stroke design of a mother and child by Rosemary Jerominek who assisted in the demonstration. While he was distributing these prints to a number of the members and guests of the club, he conducted a question and answer period. He was queried about paints, colors, how to make a finished product color-fast, and the relative merits of commercial kits or make-it-yourself frames and tools. He recommends the do-it-yourself method and the true artist's technique of mixing his own colors. The presentation was received enthusiastically.

Mr. Jerominek teaches silk screening at the Woodstock School of Art where he and his wife own and operate their studio, Tatra Prints, and where they create and produce art prints. Rosemary Jerominek, who is especially well-known in the field of Christmas cards, designs and the prints. Mr. Jerominek announced that, beginning in December, he will conduct a night class once a week in silk screen printing, in addition to his day classes at the Woodstock School of Art.

Mrs. John Wyman of New Paltz is president of the Study Club. Mrs. William Seitz of Gardiner was hostess at this week's meeting, and Mrs. Kenneth Hasbrouck had charge of refreshments. Mrs. Jesse DuBois, a member of the program committee and a local fashion columnist, introduced the guest artists. During the business meeting, a report was read about the annual tea given by The Kingston Freeman for the presidents and publicity chairmen of the Ulster County area clubs and organizations, at which Mrs. Dorothy Narel, Woman's Page Editor, was hostess. Mrs. Wyman, Mrs. W. Britton Boyce and Mrs. William Waters of the New Paltz Study Club attended.

Joan Patenaude Is Artist at West Point

Miss Joan Patenaude, a young Canadian lyric soprano, has been appointed Affiliate Artist at the Military Academy, West Point, for the current academic year. Her first major concert, in conjunction with the U.S. Military Academy Band, will be on Monday, Nov. 10, in Thayer Hall, South Auditorium, at 7:30 p.m. Her first official performance, however, was Saturday, Nov. 1, when she sang the National Anthem to the assembled crowd and television audience at the Army-Air Force football game.

Miss Patenaude is an established professional singer. A winner of The Metropolitan Opera auditions, she has appeared with leading orchestras and opera companies throughout the United States and Canada.

She is currently a member of such companies as the New York City Opera, the San Francisco Opera, the Pittsburgh Opera, and the Canadian Opera. Her musical interests include not only opera, oratorio, and lieder, but also musical comedy, folk music, and contemporary music.

As a result of her appointment, Miss Patenaude will spend a total of 56 days at the Military Academy and the surrounding area, in periods of up to 10 days at a time. Often accompanied by the Military Academy Band, she will present performances to schools, colleges, and other groups in the area in addition to her activities at the Academy.

The Affiliate Artist program seeks to stimulate active interest in the performing arts by employing young artists as "ambassadors-at-large" to the public. Miss Patenaude's appointment is not as an artist-in-residence nor as a teacher, but rather as a working professional who will present her art in performance and discussion to as wide an audience as possible.

She will offer occasional solo recitals and participate in programs with the Military Academy Band, Cadet Glee Club, and the Cadet Chapel Choir.

Miss Patenaude received her early musical and vocal training in Montreal, where her studies were sponsored by the Canadian Council and the Government of Quebec. After winning The Metropolitan Opera Auditions, she continued her studies in New York under the Kathryn Turney Long Scholarship Fund and under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. She then made her operatic debut with the New York City Opera. In June, 1969, she made her debut with the San Francisco opera in the title role of Juliette in Founad's "Romeo and Juliette."

Miss Patenaude's appointment as Affiliate Artist of West Point has been made possible by a grant from The Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

McLain and Cuellar Tie for Cy Young Award

DENNY McLAIN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Flamboyant Denny McLain of the Detroit Tigers and screwballer Mike Cuellar of the Baltimore Orioles wound up in an unprecedented deadlock Thursday for the 1969 American League Cy Young award.

The award, given to the outstanding pitcher in the league by the balloting of a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America, was shared by the two players when they each received 10 votes. Two writers from each of the league's 12 cities took part in the voting.

Jim Perry of the Minnesota Twins received three votes and Dave McNally of the Baltimore Orioles got the other vote.

There had never been a tie in the history of the awards presented by the baseball writers which dates back to 1931 when members of the BBWAA first started voting for the MVP award.

McLain, who won the award in 1968 when he posted a 31.6 record, came back with a 24.9 mark this season while Cuellar obtained in a trade with Houston last season, posted a 23.11 mark for the Orioles as they romped to the American League pennant.

Series Performance Considered

The voting took into consideration only the regular-season games and the balloting took place before the playoffs and the World Series. Cuellar started the first game of the playoffs against Minnesota and the Orioles won although he didn't get the decision. Cuellar won the first game of the Series for the Orioles and started the fourth game—which also won the third game of the World Series, 7-3, over the Detroit Tigers.

Hepatitis kept Cuellar on the disabled list from July 15 until Sept. 2 last season. He has a 5.7 record and a 4.28 ERA in 101 innings.

Washburn's no-hitter against the Giants came on Sept. 18 and was the first no-hitter pitched by a Cardinal since Lon Warneke turned one in against the Reds Aug. 30, 1941.

The trade was the third for St. Louis since the season ended.

In their biggest deal, the Cardinals sent centerfielder Curt Flood, catcher Tim McCarver, relief pitcher Joe Hoerner and reserve outfielder Byron Browne to Philadelphia. In return the Cardinals got slugger Rich Allen, utility man Cookie Rojas and pitcher Jerry Johnson. Later the Cards swapped pitcher Dave Giusti and catcher Dave Ricketts to the Pirates for outfielder Carl Taylor.

The trade was announced by Cardinal general manager Bing Devine and his Cincinnati counterpart Bob Howsam. Howsam formerly was general manager of the Cardinals.

Cuellar came to the Reds in 1967 from Cleveland. In 1968 he was Cincinnati's busiest pitcher, starting 35 times and relieving seven.

Washburn broke in with the Cardinals in 1962 and won his first five starts in 1963 before being sidelined with a muscle injury. He spent the next two seasons shuttling between the Tulsa farm club and St. Louis. Washburn broke back into the Cards' starting rotation in 1966, and had three winning years before falling off in 1969.

Sore Shoulder

McLain, who has a chronic sore shoulder, said his shoulder bothered him more this season than it did the previous year.

"Contrary to belief, I had eight cortisone shots this year, five of those the last seven or eight weeks of the season. My shoulder bothered me twice as much the latter part of this year," McLain said.

Cuellar, who favors the screwball pitch, labored in obscurity with Houston until the Orioles obtained him from Houston for Curt Blefary.

The Cuban native, though, moved into the spotlight with the Orioles as he helped them win the pennant with a 1.38 ERA that was the third best in the league. Cuellar had five shutouts.

Perry was the mainstay of the Minnesota staff with a 20.6 record and a 2.78. McNally backed Cuellar with a 20.7 mark and a 3.21 ERA for the Twins.

Cards, Reds Swap No-Hit Pitchers

RAY WASHBURN

GEORGE CULVER

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Right-handed Ray Washburn and George Culver, a pair of no-hit pitchers have been swapped between the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds.

The Cardinals sent Washburn, who pitched a no-hitter against San Francisco in 1968 to Cincinnati Wednesday for Culver who no-hit Philadelphia the same year.

Washburn, who will be 32 in May, had a 3-8 record and a 3.07 earned run average in 132 innings last season. He was used both as a starter and reliever.

Washburn had his best year in 1968. Besides his no-hitter, he had a 14-8 record with four shutouts and a 2.26 ERA. He also won the third game of the World Series, 7-3, over the Detroit Tigers.

Hepatitis kept Culver on the disabled list from July 15 until Sept. 2 last season. He has a 5.7 record and a 4.28 ERA in 101 innings.

Spectrum No Home for Philly

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's no place like home... except for the Philadelphia 76ers.

Baltimore, an unwelcome visitor from the South, sent the 76ers reeling to their fourth consecutive defeat at the Spectrum—a club record—as the Bullets swept to a 139-130 National Basketball Association victory Wednesday night and had Philadelphia looking forward to its next road game at Detroit Friday.

In the only other NBA games Atlanta stopped Boston 128-121 and Cincinnati trimmed San Diego 133-120.

In the American Basketball Association, Indiana nipped New York 104-98, Carolina defeated Kentucky 121-109 in two overtimes and New Orleans beat Denver, 119-105.

Wes Unseld overcame early foul trouble to spark the Bullets over the 76ers. The burly center picked up his third personal with 4:47 left in the opening quarter and didn't return until the third period.

Unseld dropped in six field goals in the period, moving the Bullets to a 100-88 lead. They were never threatened.

Unseld finished with 24 points as did teammate Jack Marin. Kevin Loughery and Earl Monroe added 25 apiece for the winners. Bill Cunningham had 37 for the 76ers.

Atlanta, with Lou Hudson pouring in 37 points, swept to its fourth straight victory despite 39 points by Emmette Bryant of the Celtics.

Atlanta, which snapped Boston's winning string at three, took the lead for good at 44-43 on Walt Hazzard's basket and upped the margin to 62-53 at the half. The Celtics never got within nine points of the Hawks in the second half.

Oscar Robertson dropped in 33 points and combined with Norman Van Lier to pick off several San Diego passes as the Royals came from 10 points back in Cincinnati.

The Rockets, who dropped their seventh straight, moved to a 48-38 lead midway in the second quarter but the Royals with Robertson and Van Lier doing the work on defense finally went ahead to stay at 72-71 on a basket by Tom Van Arsdale.

Stars Tie, Rangers Lose

By United Press International

The Montreal Canadiens had the unusual experience Wednesday of finding something good about playing a tie at home.

Ordinarily a 2-2 tie with the expansion Minnesota North Stars at the Montreal Forum would be considered the equivalent of a loss but the Canadiens saw a bright side in the fact that Yvan Cournoyer scored the tying goal for them at 18:38 of the third period.

Cournoyer was playing his first game after being sidelined with a broken nose for 10 days and the little marksman demonstrated that he has lost none of the clutch qualities which made him one of the Stanley Cup champions' most valuable players last season.

The Canadiens took a 1-0 lead in the first period on a goal by Jacques Lemaire but the North Stars went in front, 2-1, on second-period goals by Bill Goldsworthy and Bill Collins.

Stan Mikita scored his first goal of the season and Jim Pappin and Gerry Pinder also scored for the Chicago Black Hawks in a 3-1 triumph over the New York Rangers. Bob Nevin was credited with the Rangers' goal, which bounced off Gilles Marotte's stick into the net.

Larry Keenan scored two goals and Phil Goyette and Ron Anderson one each as the St. Louis Blues played a 4-4 tie which ran the Boston Bruins winless streak to four games. Dallas Smith, Phil Esposito, Fred Stanfield and Jim Harrison scored for the Bruins, who led, 2-0, after the first period.

Second-period goals by Frank Mahovlich and Bruce MacGregor enabled the Detroit Red Wings to beat the Pittsburgh Penguins, 4-2. Roger Crozier turned in an outstanding game in the Detroit goal with 34 saves, including six in a matter of seconds during the second period.

Bill Flett, who hadn't scored a point in eight previous games, had a goal and two assists which led the Los Angeles Kings to a 6-2 romp over the Toronto Maple Leafs. Eddie Shack, Dale Rolfe, Dennis Hextall, Ross Lonsberry and Skip Krake also scored for the Kings, while Dave Keon had two goals for the Maple Leafs.

Only a Miracle Can Stall Pine Bush Eleven Now

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON
If Hans Christian Anderson or the Brothers Grimm were still around and were inking a script or story to go along with the conclusion of football action in the Ulster County Athletic League Saturday, they might write it something like this:
"After rolling along to a successful, undefeated season, in quest of the UCAL title, the Pine Bush High School football team stopped off in Wallkill for a final tilt with that winless eleven Saturday and, lo and behold, the Blue Fairy appeared on the scene and directed the host squad to their first win of the season and the biggest upset in modern gridiron annals."

"Thus, the league leaders were forced into a tie with Highland and the UCAL title would have to be divided in two, with Highland Coach Lem Atkins donating his share of the mythical crown to the staff and team members of Wallkill."

But, as we said earlier, this would be the stuff that fairy tales and miracles are made of and the Bushmen would have to admit that if they lose, there must have been some sort of "Divine Intervention." It may happen, but it is highly unlikely that Cinderella will get her prince or Snow White will receive her life-restoring kiss on the cheek.

The Bushmen are well within reach of the UCAL flag and it will take a minor miracle to keep them from winning it all Saturday.

This is not meant as a slap at Wallkill. The team has had some bad luck this season. The biggest reason for its demise as a football power is the fact that last year, the school was forced to go without football and all of the squad that would have returned, graduated. The up and coming players had no chance to gain experience so that the Wallkill coaching staff was truly faced with a rebuilding year.

It goes without saying that if they upset the Bushmen, they would have to consider this season a great success.

Pine Bush received a minor scare last weekend as they were forced to come up with 12 points in the last quarter to defeat upset-minded Marlboro. But, the win clinched a tie for first and the Bushmen should be well up for this one.

Highland travels to Marlboro and will be determined to take this one just in case it happens at Wallkill. Cos Trapani, Perry Monroe, Bill Henderson and the rest of the Highland eleven would like to be doing double duty Saturday, defeating the Dukes and leading the cheers for Wallkill.

Marlboro's Bruce Partington will be making his farewell appearance for the Dukes and will be looking to go over the 100-yard mark for the seventh time this season. Dan Passante will again call the signals for the Dukes.

Last year's champs, the Ganderers of Rondout, travel to Ontario for their season's finale with the Indians. Ontario has done a fine job, coming off a non-competitive year and will have one game remaining with Highland.

Gander Coach, John "Mickey" Million, in his first season as varsity mentor has also done a fine job with a team that had its ranks depleted by graduation and injuries to key players. There is no love lost between these two squads and it should be a whale of a game.

Liberty, sporting one of the highest scoring offenses in UCAL, history invades New Paltz for their season's finale. The Redskins have been something of an enigma, dropping their first two tilts, to Pine Bush and Highland and then winning their last four tilts by an average of better than 45 points per game. Their last victory being a 63-6 romp over Wallkill.

New Paltz, paced by the fine play of Harold Anderson, Paul Liem and Jim Fial, has been an on-again-off-again team this season and if they can stop Liberty, it will also have to be considered a "miracle."

The Cliff Secor Tragedy—An Uncommon Occurrence

By MORT LAFFIN

WOODSTOCK
Hundreds of students, faculty members and officials from the Ontario School District, plus family and friends, paid their last respects to Clifford L. Secor Tuesday at Lasher's Funeral Home in Woodstock and then formed one of the largest funeral processions ever viewed in that area as they moved to services at the Overlook Methodist Church and then on to the interment at Woodstock Cemetery.

Secor, a 15-year-old Ontario High School freshman, suffered fatal injuries Friday afternoon while playing in a junior varsity football tilt with Highland. The youth died about one hour later in Benedictine Hospital. Doctors listed his injuries as internal, with a ruptured spleen being cited as the main cause of death.

The tragedy was the first football fatality recorded in the Mid-Hudson Valley area in 33 years. The last accident of this type, occurring on the playing field, happened in 1936 at Arlington High School when Bob Waelde, halfback and captain of the team, suffered a rupture of the spleen in a game with Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie. Waelde died weeks after the injury in Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Game films reviewed at Ontario showed that the last play that Secor was involved in came as he tackled a Highland ball carrier. He came off the field under his own power, indicating that he did not feel well and was wobbling.

He was immediately examined by his coach, Bill Witter, Joe Friedel, Athletic Director and High School principal John Stefano. They quickly called an ambulance and within 15 minutes of the accident, Secor was on his way to Benedictine Hospital.

While accidents of this nature are very uncommon, even in the rough and tumble world of football, speculation rises as to what was done before the occurrence of a tragedy such as this to prevent it from happening. And, ultimately, what can be done to see that it doesn't occur again.

The answer to the first query, especially in this case, is: "Everything."

The real and practical answer to the second is: "Nothing." This tragedy couldn't have been prevented anymore than that fatal car crash, slip intensive physical training and to each boy to assure the proper phase of our scholastic program.

in the bath tub, trip on the sidewalk or all the other incidents that we try to prepare for but actually have no real way of preventing.

The only way that it could have been prevented would be if we all locked ourselves in a closet and shut ourselves off from everyone and everything.

You couldn't do it yourself and you couldn't do it to a boy like Cliff. He was a good student, active in football, track and basketball. A member of the Boy Scouts and a real outdoorsman. One only had to witness the size of the funeral procession to attest to his popularity.

Friedel was quick to point up the fact that all the equipment used by all the boys on all the teams is in 100 per cent condition. "All our reusable equipment is reconditioned at the end of each year and suited amount of protection. Suspect to equipment is immediately replaced with newly purchased materials," stated the AD.

He also went on to state that Ontario coaches are making use of the newest techniques in training and equipment to assure the safety of the boys participating in any sport. He also pointed out that he and the staff make regular checks to see that each boy is wearing all of his protective gear before he engages in any contest.

Stefano stated that all considerations are given to each student, academically as well as athletically, on an individual basis.

"We treat each student as an individual in all cases," he said. "We try to cover every eventuality that can occur during any

What all this means is that this accident, as tragic as it is, couldn't have realistically been prevented. Inspection of the boy's equipment and a viewing of the game films, plus discussions with various members of the coaching staff, verified all that was said by the school officials regarding this particular incident.

Critics of the sport, all sports and school officials, all schools, must realize that no one in their right mind would intentionally jeopardize the life of a youngster and no one did in this case.

Most Rich Are Set to Get Richer Sat.

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)—Most of the rich get richer in college football this week.

Five of seven unbeaten teams in the upper echelon figure to win easily while the other two—Penn State (4) and UCLA (7) have the week off. Missouri (8) is the only member of the top 10 apparently in critical danger but is picked over Oklahoma.

Starting at the top and remembering the oddsmakers shied away from many on the list as too risky:

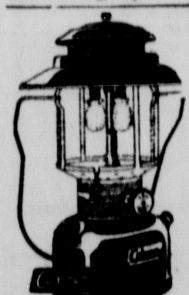

Buckeyes Again
Ohio State 35, Wisconsin 6—Buckeyes may have to work hard for awhile.
Texas 28, Baylor 7—Depends upon how long the regulars go.
Tennessee 28, South Carolina 10—No strain for Vols.
Southern California 38, Washington State 10—State's defense too shaky.
Arkansas 35, Rice 14—No threat to Razorbacks here.
Missouri 21, Oklahoma 17—Holding Steve Owens just enough.
Purdue 28, Michigan State 11—Phipps, Brown hefty one-two punch.

Pick ND
Notre Dame 35, Pittsburgh 14—Too many guns for this Panther.
Louisiana State 33, Alabama 21—LSU rugged at home.
Stanford 35, Washington 14—Huskie foes have averaged 35 points.
Michigan 42, Illinois 20—Illini still winless.
Houston 38, Tulsa 20—Both score well.
Georgia 28, Florida 17—Rebound for Bulldogs.
Mississippi 45, Chattanooga 10—Mercy needed.
Utah 24, Wyoming 21—Edge to Utes at home.
Auburn 26, Mississippi State 10—Could be worse.
Also:
East—Syracuse six over Arizona, Boston College six over Buffalo, Dartmouth 21 over Columbia, Boston U. eight over Rhode Island, Rutgers even

Hoop Officials Meet Tonight

A clinic for present and those interested in becoming basketball officials will be held tonight beginning at 7:30 p.m. The clinic will be held in Room 136 at Poughkeepsie High School, which is located on Forbus Street. Other nights the clinic has been scheduled for are November 12, 13, 17, 20 and 24.

G. Wetmore Dead at 84

VERNON, N. Y. (AP) — Gill Wetmore, generally recognized as the dean of New York State harness horsemen, is dead at 84.

Vernon Downs officials reported that Wetmore died Monday enroute to the annual Harrisburg, Pa., horse auction. He was riding in an auto driven by a Vernon Downs photographer, William Taylor, when stricken near Allentown, Pa.

Wetmore, born Jan. 29, 1875, in Westmoreland, N.Y., spent several years as a youth in Rome, near Vernon, and began his harness career at 14.

A trainer-driver owner for many years, he took part in the Lexington, Ky., fall trotting season for the first time in 1895 and hadn't missed that classic since.

He operated the Hotel Wetmore on Vernon's Main Street for 55 years, selling it in 1966.

He leaves his widow, the former Emma Demler, and several nephews and nieces.

Funeral services will be Thursday morning at the Thomas A. Cox Funeral Home in Rome.

AHS vs. Pioneers for Title

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON Coach Frank King's Arlington Admirals play host to the Pioneers of Poughkeepsie Saturday in a Dutchess County Scholastic League Central Section tilt that will decide that league's pennant. The Admirals own a fine record for the season, with Poughkeepsie right behind at 6-1.

The only loss for the visitors was a shocker handed them by Roosevelt High, in a mid-week game.

Ken Sawyer does it all for Arlington. Last year, as a sophomore, Sawyer was an All-DCSL pick on the defensive team. This year, it appears that he will gain Back-of-the-Year honors of the DCSL. The Admirals fullback has scored at least once in every game and his per-game offensive statistics have been astronomical.

King is faced with the pleasant problem of having two quarterbacks of equal ability in Bob Young and Rick Horton. Both boys could probably start on any other team in the DCSL. Young appears to have the slight edge, as he starts every game. The Arlington coach is then afforded the luxury of being able to utilize his quarterbacks as a messenger service throughout the tilt.

The defense has been outstanding, particularly in the league games as it has allowed but 26 points, 20 of these being scored against the second-team defenders late in the tilts. Mike Walsh and Ed Whalen anchor this squad at the line-backing positions. Gary Staufferman, Poughkeepsie's "Mr. All-Everything" at quarterback, is a doubtful starter, along with second-string signal-caller Jack Foster. Both men suffered injuries in the last two Pioneer encounters. The line is anchored by Dennis Ladzinski. Saugerties travels to Beacon to try and continue its winning ways. The Sawyers pulled one of this season's major upsets over host Pawling. Actually, a week, after the Presidents had knocked off Poughkeepsie, Quarterback Hooley Carnright showed just what he can do when he gets enough protection. Mark Ishkanian and Lynn Whiteford also played well. In other games, Pine Plains County looks to wrap up the Bi-Valley section of the DCSL with a win over host Pawling. Students Disrupt WAC Council Talks DENVER (UPI)—Western Athletic Conference delegates called an indefinite recess to their trouble-plagued annual fall meeting Wednesday after 55 to 40 black students staged a sit-in.

The demonstration came 24 hours after Negro representatives from Arizona University had appealed for suspension of Brigham Young University from the conference. The blacks accused the Mormon Church, with which BYU is affiliated, of discrimination.

Chuck Campbell of the Black Student Alliance at the Colorado University Denver Center, presented WAC delegates with a two-page statement. In effect, it called for expulsion of BYU from the conference and the opportunity for black athletes to protest "question

The majority of the black students left the WAC session a few minutes later, but delegates recessed the meeting when a few remained. The delegates recessed the meeting when a few remained. The delegates recessed the meeting when a few remained.

"We felt it was best not to meet in the face of the 'pressure,' one WAC official said. 'We felt like we couldn't make any fair or objective action.'" wore black armbands carrying the number 14. The armbands referred to the 14 Wyoming University Negro football players who were suspended for protesting a game against BYU. WAC delegates had refused to comment on that incident because of pending court litigation. black students included reinstatement of the Wyoming players, a reprimand of Wyoming football coach Lloyd Eaton for his actions and more opportunity for black athletes. Campbell said it was apparent "the WAC is not willing to negotiate. They are not willing to listen to reasonable demands by black people. They are no longer interested in Metropolitain State College, all working with black people."

You probably won't need it. That's what's good about it.

LIFETIME GUARANTEE
New Mobil Passenger Tires are guaranteed against defects in workmanship and material for the life of the original tread. They are also guaranteed against normal road hazards (such as blowouts, fabric breaks and cuts) which render the tire unserviceable.

If examination shows the tire has failed under the terms of this guarantee, we will make a reasonable allowance on the purchase of a new tire based on Mobil's current predetermined price for adjustment, plus applicable taxes. Allowance will be based on remaining tread wear as determined by tread wear gauge.

This guarantee does not cover consequential damages, nor damages from running flat or from wheel misalignment, nor the cost of repairing punctures, nor tires marked "Second" which are limited to replacement of the Mobil tire.

Schenectady 'State of Emergency' In Areas Near Strikebound GE

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI)—Schenectady County Sheriff Harold Calkins says he considers a "state of emergency" in effect today in parts of the county near the strike-bound General Electric Co.

Calkins appealed Wednesday to Governor Rockefeller for state police reinforcements, but was refused. Rockefeller told Calkins, whose deputies are assigned to two of the GE gates where picketing has prevented employees from working, to "exhaust all provisions of the state mutual aid law" before seeking state help.

The sheriff said the situation had developed into an "emotionally charged atmosphere" that could lead to possible "threats to public peace." However, the governor said sending troops to the gates was "not warranted."

Schenectady city police have charge of the main gate at the 27,000 employee plant, while sheriff's deputies have been patrolling north gate and the Campbell Street gate in Rotterdam.

The main gate has been the scene of most of the action as the majority of non-strikers have shown up there in the mornings and been rebuffed by a solid wall of strikers. No serious violence has occurred.

Under the mutual aid law the sheriff can draw personnel, equipment and supplies from all law enforcement agencies in the county and from other sheriff's departments in the state.

Rockefeller's office said the Schenectady situation is being kept under "close observation."

Meanwhile most of the activity in the General Electric strike in the state was in the courtroom. Three separate court actions were involved, two aimed at limiting mass picketing and the third was part of an attempt by Onondaga County to shut off welfare benefits to strikers.

In a State Supreme Court hearing in Schenectady Wednesday, City Manager John Scott said police had not attempted to open a path for non-strikers through the main gate because they were "afraid to maintain peace" and "avoid violence."

Scott said police would have a difficult time handling the strikers, who have numbered up to 5,000 at times on the picket lines.

Guilty Plea For Murdering Wealthy Girl

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 26-year-old drummer pleaded guilty Wednesday to the 1967 murder of Linda Fitzpatrick, the daughter of a wealthy suburban family who fled to East Village to join the love-preaching "flower children" and was beaten to death.

Donald Ramsey entered the plea before state Supreme Court Justice Irwin D. Davidson who set Nov. 25 as the date for sentencing. Ramsey also was charged with rape but pleaded innocent to that charge.

Miss Fitzpatrick, 17, the daughter of a Greenwich, Conn., executive, and a 24-year-old drifter, James (Groovy) Hutchinson, were found dead Oct. 8, 1967 in the filthy basement of a tenement.

She was one of thousands of young people who then flocked to the village in New York, Height Asbury in San Francisco and Chicago's Old Town seeking a new life style. Her death was one of the incidents of violence which later led many to leave the cities and begin setting up "communes" in rural areas.

Another defendant in the case, Thomas Dennis, 26, pleaded guilty to manslaughter last September and is awaiting sentencing.

Dear Abby

Job Upsets Parents

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Nancy, our 20-year-old daughter, lives at home and we trust her. She works as a salesgirl. Nancy recently brought home a 28-year-old man and introduced him as a commercial artist and photographer.

Last week-end Nancy told us that he was to pick her up at 4 a.m. as he wanted an early start to take pictures of her in the sunrise at a mountain site 70 miles away. They returned at 6 p.m. The young photographer spoke three words to us and left hastily.

Nancy told us that during the day she learned that the man was married with two children. I told her we all should have been told this at the start.

When I phoned his residence, his wife answered, and to my surprise she knew all about the photography trip her husband had taken with our daughter, and was surprised that we were worried just because he was married. Later the young man phoned, obviously upset, and said he'd gone on many such professional trips with young ladies and this is the first time his motives were questioned.

I told him that our unmarried daughter had her reputation to think of, and also that I knew many commercial artists and photographers and never heard of any who operated in that manner. He indignantly said that he would never ask our daughter to pose for him again, and that we were way off base. Nancy agreed with him. We leave it to you, Abby. Were we "off base"?

DEAR OLD HATS: Probably. You could have at least waited to see the photographic results of this "trip" before assuming that there was hanky-panky involved. Also, for you to have called his wife shows an appalling lack of confidence in a daughter you "trust."

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a very conservative (money-wise) woman, for which I am grateful, but I think she overdoes it. She keeps records, and now she tells me that in the last 10 years we have sent wedding gifts to 37 couples, and we spent an average of $22.10 on each gift. She says that of these 37 couples to whom we sent wedding gifts, only 18 are still married to each other.

She says that from now on she is thru buying wedding gifts. Instead, she'll send a lovely card of "congratulations," and if their marriage lasts a year she will send an ANNIVERSARY present! What do you think of this?

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Suggest that she wait five years and send them a silver from her head! (It's the "wooden" anniversary.)

DEAR ABBY: In nearly nine years of marriage, my husband has rarely told me he loves me. Yet I know he does. How do I know? Let me count the ways:

He appreciates my efforts as a wife, mother and homemaker. Although he doesn't tell me in so many words himself, he brags me up to others. He never corrects me in public. He doesn't drink or gamble or make me jealous by being too attentive to other women in my presence. When he's wrong, he says, "I'm sorry." When I'm wrong, he doesn't remind me of it over and over again. He never says MY house or MY children — always "OURS."

I could go on and on. So what if he finds it difficult to put into words what he feels? There are many men to whom words come easily, but they are only "words."

My man has trouble articulating what he feels, but he expresses his feelings more eloquently by what he does.

If women would stop nagging their husbands by asking, "Do you love me?" and pay attention to how their men TREAT them, they wouldn't have to ask. They would KNOW.

Sincerely,
"LOVED" IN LOUISVILLE

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

NEW GIRL: (Q.) I had long blond hair—about down to my shoulders—and my boy friend really liked it. Well, one day I got so fed up with it that I got it cut real short. It is still blonde and it looks really cute. But I look entirely different.

And my boy friend acts entirely different. He says he loved and knew the old me and he still loves the new me, but he isn't used to me. Do you think he's telling the truth or trying to give me the brushoff?—Short Hair and Cool Kisses in Baltimore.

(A.) I think the shock was too much for him. But I also think he'll get used to the new you if you give him time. It often takes boys and men a while to accept a new fashion, hair style, or make-up. They react especially strongly when someone near and dear changes suddenly.

HAIRY SON: (Q.) My father was hairy and I am, too. I am 18 and the hair on my body keeps increasing. I can't go swimming or even wear walking shorts in the summer. I've been bleaching it with peroxide. If I keep on doing this will it fall out?—Hairy in Spokane, Wash.

(A.) Bleaching won't make it fall out. But why bleach it? Hairiness is a symbol of manhood. Many girls think it's sexy.

You'll get used to it and learn to show off your bushy chest and legs unashamedly, maybe even proudly, at beach or pool.

FREED BY COMMUNISTS — Three American prisoners of war (L-R) Pfc. Coy R. Tinsley, 22, of Cleveland, Tenn., Pfc. James R. Strickland Jr., 22, of Dunn, N. C., and Spec. 4 Willie A. Watkins, 22, of Sumter, S. C., relax in hospital in Long Binh, South Vietnam, Wednesday, after they were released by Communist troops. Officials said the three men walked into a South Vietnamese militia post four miles west of Tam Ky, about 340 miles northeast of Saigon. They were the three enlisted men the Viet Cong radio announced Oct. 26 would be freed. (UPI RADIOPHOTO).

POWs Happy After a Steak

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Army described three GIs as "in an exceptionally happy mood" today following their release from Viet Cong prisons—and a steak dinner.

Fulfilling a promise, the guerrillas freed the GIs Wednesday on the northern coast. In announcing the release Oct. 26, Liberation Radio said it was planned for "humanitarian reasons."

Army spokesmen identified the men as Pfc. James R. Strickland Jr., 22, of Dunn, N.C.; Pfc. Coy R. Tinsley, 22, of Cleveland, Tenn., and Spec. 4

William A. Watkins, 22, of Sumter, S.C.

They came out of captivity to a steak dinner and underwent physical examinations that showed them in good condition. Tinsley had lost 20 pounds and the other men shed some weight.

For Watkins and Strickland it marked the end of 22 months as Viet Cong prisoners. Tinsley had spent eight months in captivity. All were American Division soldiers captured in the northern war zone.

The release brought to 17 the number of Americans released from Viet Cong or North Vietnamese war prisons. Nearly 1,400 GIs are listed as missing.

Lodge to Communists— At Table or 'Other Plan'

PARIS (UPI)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told Communist negotiators today it was for them to decide whether the Vietnam War was ended at the conference table or by President Nixon's "other plan."

Lodge told the Communist side Nixon was ready to carry out his plan for Vietnamization of the war and withdrawal of American forces if efforts to negotiate a settlement failed.

Lodge warned the Communists: "You must not rely on our making concession after concession until you get everything you want."

"In our search for peace we have recognized your side was capable of blocking all attempts to bring an end to the war through negotiation."

"The President has stated the alternatives," he told the 41st session of the Vietnam peace conference. "We remain ready through these meetings, through private meetings or through restricted meetings to discuss the issues seriously and to find mutually acceptable solutions to them."

"Whether peace is achieved through negotiation depends on your readiness to deal with the issues in the same spirit."

Lodge described Nixon's alternative plan as one "which would bring the war to an end, regardless of what happens on the negotiating front."

He said that as Nixon had said in his speech Monday, the United States had noted the reduced level of North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam and the reduction of American casualties.

"We are basing our program of Vietnamization partially on those factors," he said, and added a warning: "If your military activity significantly increases we might have to take other measures."

Lodge cited public opinion polls taken since Nixon's address to show that the President's Vietnam policy has the support of the vast majority of the American people.

Enemy Endangers Beret Camp

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist far to the south, inflicted costly attacks thrust to within 1,000 yards of the endangered Duc Lap Green beret camp on the Cambodian border today and, the two widely separated attacks were launched against South Vietnamese troops in what military sources said was shaping up as a guerrilla campaign to test the Saigon government's readiness to take over the war.

This drive began Saturday and was not reflected in casualty reports released today for last week. The reports said 83 Americans were killed and 724 wounded—the fifth week in the past six that U.S. deaths from the 7,000 man buildup around Duc Lap thrust to within 1,000 yards of the Green Beret camp today with a mortar and ground attack against a South Vietnamese artillery outpost.

Military sources said this morning's attack against the government marines 138 miles southwest of Saigon was thrown back with 75 Communists slain. But 27 marines died and 98 were wounded—the second time in three days that an elite South Vietnamese unit has taken high losses.

More Communist soldiers to capture Duc Lap.

The highlands drive spread northward during the night, spokesmen said, as North Vietnamese troops stormed into a U.S. Army camp 230 miles northeast of Saigon, killing nine Americans and wounding 24 others. Twenty-seven of the attackers were killed.

In two other highland thrusts against U.S. bases, both 220 miles northeast of the capital, Communist troops penetrated one perimeter but were thrown back from the second. A total of three guerrillas were slain and three GIs wounded.

The offensive began last weekend with the Communist troops forcing the Allies to abandon three U.S. border artillery bases. Saigon troops have been entrusted with the entire counteroffensive in a test of their readiness to take over the war.

Gibson reported South Vietnamese army reinforcements pouring into the campaign in the remote, jungled plateau. The only U.S. troops involved, besides helicopter and fighter-bomber pilots, are the handful of Green Berets in the camps at Bu Prang and Duc Lap.

The morning communiques from Allied headquarters listed light fighting across the rest of South Vietnam from Wednesday.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops fired 11 overnight rocket and mortar barrages into Allied bases, including the Nha Trang airbase, recently taken over by government troops, on the central coast. Damage was reported as light.

Pentagon Starts the Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon says it has started "precautionary planning" to deal with possible disorders when antiwar groups stage a "march against death" through the capital next week.

It reported a total of 28,000 soldiers and Marines are available in the general Washington area, if needed. About 10,000 of these troops are in organized units and many have riot control training.

Unlike the Oct. 15 Vietnam Moratorium, government leaders believe more militants will be involved this time and may attempt confrontations with authorities.

However, demonstration leaders have said repeatedly the protests will be peaceful. Earlier this week protest organizers disavowed any connection with a proposed demonstration by the Youth International Party (Yippies)—one of the more radical groups.

The government fears of violence center on a proposed Nov. 15 mass march along Pennsylvania Avenue from the Capitol past the White House to a rally near the Washington Monument.

Negotiations for a parade permit have broken down, mainly over the march route, with Justice Department officials concerned the demonstrators would virtually surround the executive mansion.

This would present a serious security problem. Justice officials say, compounded if their "reliable reports" of potential violence came true.

Regular troops will be brought in only if civilian police and the 2,700-man District of Columbia National Guard are unable to cope with the situation.

The emphasis so far has been on trying to gauge how big the demonstrating crowds may be, who will be involved and where any trouble might break out.

A major concern would be protection of federal buildings, including the White House.

The Pentagon, which is working with the Justice Department, said "no final decisions have been made" on any firm steps to take in advance of the demonstrations.

A Cairo announcement said the Wednesday raid killed 10 Israelis, including a man captured who later died in an Egyptian hospital. Israel's version listed the toll as two dead, two wounded and one captured.

Apparently the rest of the attack force fled, he said. No Arab political sources in mention of casualties was made in the initial Israeli report on the attack.

The Israeli spokesman said Israeli warplanes took to the air early today in retaliation for a Jordanian artillery attack since the 1967 Middle East war, on Israeli positions 20 miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said the United States was shifting closer to the Arab position in the search for a Middle East peace settlement. They said Washington awaited Soviet concurrence before presenting a new plan to a midmonth meeting of the Big Four powers.

The Egyptian commando action came despite a new Israeli warning of retaliatory attacks against Egypt if the cross-Suez raids continued.

Egypt Commandos Hit Again

By United Press International

Egyptian commandos today staged their second successful raid in 24 hours on Israeli positions along the southern end of Suez Canal, a Cairo military spokesman announced. Israel said its forces smashed the attack.

Cairo was first to report the assault, saying the commandos crossed the canal at 2 a.m. near El Shatt, scene of Wednesday's raid, and destroyed two parked tanks and one armored vehicle.

The Egyptian spokesman said all of the occupants of the Israeli position had been killed but did not give a figure. He said all commandos had returned safely to their base.

The Tel Aviv announcement a short time later said the raid came at 4:30 a.m., with the Egyptians striking under an intensive artillery barrage. An Israeli spokesman said Israeli troops returned the fire and captured one wounded Egyptian.

Apparently the rest of the attack force fled, he said. No Arab political sources in mention of casualties was made in the initial Israeli report on the attack.
